Birth Control Researcher Tells of Strong Reason to Believe Pill Can Cause Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A birth control researcher told Senate investigators today there is strong reason to believe The Pill can cause cancer.

"Breast cancers have been induced in at least five different species of animals by treatment with the same synthetic hormones being marketed in the oral contraceptives," said Dr. Hugh Davis of the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine.

Davis told the monopoly subcommittee of the Senate Small Business Committee in prepared testimony that every agent which has been shown to cause cancer in humans also has been shown to cause it in animals.

"There is no reason to presume," he said, "That the single exception ... will turn out to be oral contraceptives."

There is even less reason for such a presumption, Davis added, since the same compounds have been shown to produce breast cancer in males.

Calling this a "very rare finding under other circumstances," Davis asked the subcommittee:

"Shall we have millions of women on the pill for 20 years and then discover it was all a great mistake?"

He said no woman should take the pill continuously for more than two years.

Davis was one of four researchers called to testify as the subcommittee, chaired by Democrat Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, opened five days of hearings into the safety of the pill, now used by 8.5 million women in this country and an estimated 10 million abroad.

The hearings, two days this week and three next, are the first by Congress on the safety of the pill, which has been linked to everything from headaches to fatal blood clotting.

Most of the 18 witnesses scheduled have been critical of the pill for one reason or another.

Scheduled with Davis today were three researchers who cited possible genetic damage. One reported a study showing a form of synthetic female hormone used in one type of pill had caused cleft palate in mice.

Main purpose of the hearings, as outlined by Nelson, is to determine whether women are being adequately warned of the pill's known and suspected side effects.

Davis said little attempt has been made to either inform or protect women.

Davis also said intrauterine devices have been perfected so that they are now 99 per cent effective in preventing pregnancy in the 94 per cent of women who can use them.

25-Year Term in Slaying

NEW MADRID — James Roston, 32, Catron, was sentenced Tuesday in circuit court to 25 years in the department of corrections. Judge William L. Ragland ordered the sentence after Roston pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of second degree murder.

Roston was charged in connection with the Oct. 11 shooting of J. B. "Booker" Lockhart in Catron. Lockhart died Oct. 13.

Joyce Glass and Stella Ressono were each given six months suspended jail sentence upon their good behavior and payment of court costs. They pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of common assault in connection with a paring knife cutting Sept. 18 of Barbara Richard.

A capias was ordered by Judge Ragland for Arlean Harris and Sherman Harris who failed to appear on forgery charges.

Billy Ralph Greer pleaded guilty to breaking and entering Olivers Grocery at Morehouse September 26. A pre- sentence investigation was ordered by the judge.

Criminal charges were dismissed against Patricia Ann Chessor, charged with two counts of forgery; and against Jimmie Drake, charged with breaking and entering November 30 the Marvin Gross home near Matthews.

Five divorces granted were Darlene Kay King from Lee Roy King. She received custody of a child, $20 a week child support and $200 attorney's fee. Reasonable rights of visitation were granted the defendant.

William Elmer Dunscombe was divorced from Bessie Dunscombe; Betty Jean Hensley was divorced from Ray E. Hensley; Willie Cole Jr. was divorced from Estella Cole, also known as Estella Dancler; and Florence Gremard was divorced from William Lee Gremard.

Modification of a divorce decree to Peggy Jackson against Teddy Lee Jackson granted her $35 a month for child support.

Judgements awarded in civil suits included $2,408.43 to Pemiscot Oil Co. against W. C. Cox; $1,114.31 to E. C. Barton and Co. against J. L. Bugg Jr. and Jeanette Bugg; $497.73 to Missouri Farmers Association Inc. against Orell Harris doing business as M and O Construction Co.; $478 to Pemiscot Oil Co. against A. A. Miller; $471.82 to Missouri Farmers Association Inc. against E. L. Jones; and $268.86 to Missouri Farmers Association Inc. against Luther House.

A writ of error Coram Nobis filed by Freddie Lee Grant alias Freddie Lee King, who is serving a sentence for forcible rape, was overruled by Judge Ragland.

Vote on Six-Cent Increase in School Levy May Be Necessary, Twitty Says

A vote on wheather to approve a six- cent increase in the R-6 district's $4.18 tax levy may be necessary in order to give teachers a scheduled $100 annual raise in pay, Supt. Lynn Twitty said yesterday.

At a meeting of the board Tuesday it was decided to hold an election March 3 to continue an 18- cent levy for kindergarten schools. This would not increase the $4.18 levy.

Money for teacher raises was to have come from the state this year but this is doubtful since the income tax increase to finance the measure did not go into effect Jan. 1 as scheduled.

Superintendent Twitty said he thought teachers would accept the $100 raise. He said they were expecting larger increases in salary, but with state money not available, it would take a 77- cent increase in the levy to put the complete new pay schedule into effect.

Twitty said to ask voters to approve such a levy would "be whistling in the dark."

The regular school election will be April 7. The terms of board members Bruce Lewis and Bob Mitchell expire.

It is believed Gov. Warren Hearnes will select April 7 as the date to submit the controversial income tax increase to a vote of the people.

There will be a deadline for school board candidates, who must file 35 days prior to the statewide election.

In other action Tuesday, the board decided to review policies on work and services performed by students in the vocational training school.

This resulted from complaints from a number of beauty shops and two private beauty schools which charged the cosmotology course offered by the school were taking students and customers from private businesses.

Students and mothers of students enrolled in the course get the services of the cosmotology course at no cost or at rates below what private businesses charge.

Board Attorney Charles Matthews gave results of a survey he has made.

He concluded that the vocational school cosmotology course was taking customers away from private shops and beauty operators were justified in their complaints.

He added privileges offered to students and parents in the departments of vocational training have been abused and said other vocational departments in the school also compete with private business in some ways.

Students in the electrical course repair television sets. The refrigeration students repairs air conditioners and the automotive department students repair cars and trucks.

Students in the refrigeration course repaired window unit air conditioners at the Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

School officials point out that if students learn vocational trades they must have equipment to work on.

Matthews asked the school system to more closely supervise vocational training to take steps to reduce competition with private business and to appoint boards for each course. The boards would review all aspects of the curriculum and would be composed by private businessmen.

Without these steps, Matthews said, the school may face court action from private businesses, especially the beauty schools.

The board accepted Matthews, report and took the unusual step of recessing the meeting until Feb. 2 when it will continue the study of Matthews' proposals.

Sears Hopes Bluff Site Ready Soon

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The director of the state Board of Training Schools said Tuesday he hoped that as many as 120 inmates from the Boonville Training School for Boys could be transferred by July to a newly-acquired site north of Poplar Bluff.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes signed an agreement by which the U. S. Forest Service will let the state use the 75-acre tract in the Clark National Forest for $25 a year. The Office of Economic Opportunity has turned over to the state vocational training equipment stored there since OEO shut down its own job training operation last June.

The training school director, Wendell E. Sears, said as soon as he saw the announcement of the OEO shutdown at Poplar Bluff "I made my first pitch" to acquire the property for training school purposes.

He said it will ease the crowding at Boonville where 465 boys are being housed now although the facilities are designed for not more than 370. It would also broaden substantially the training school's opportunities to provide academic and vocational training.

Squabble Over Biafra Appears to Be Settled

LAGOS (AP) — A squabble between Nigerian organizations over directing aid for Biafra appeared today to have been settled, but there was no green light yet for foreign governments waiting to send massive shipments of food, medicine and supplies to the war zone.

Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, the Nigerian head of state, rejected help from Joint Church Aid and other private agencies which flew mercy shipments to Biafra during the civil war.

The relief program was reported stymied by a dispute over its control between the government-affiliated National Commission for Rehabilitation and the Nigerian Red Cross. But the head of the rehabilitation commission, Timothy Omobare, said today that the commission "is in charge of determining priority of emergency relief operations, while the Red Cross is in charge of emergency operations."

"We don't trouble them at all," he added. "The decree sharing our responsibility is very clear. All we need ... now is to get to the field and meet the needy masses and not sit down in Lagos quarreling."

A defense department spokesman said the government had not cleared a relief airlift from Britain because the government had no official information.

"All we know is what we hear on the radio," he said.

Other Nigerian officials said the government has all the food it needs, but the problem is getting it to those needing it. They said all efforts must be channeled through agencies approved by the government.

Persons returning from the war zone said Biafran troops were surrendering without difficulty and refugees were pouring out. They said there were 2,000 prisoners of war at Ikot, Ekpene and Port Harcourt, and that they saw no signs of mistreatment of Biafran troops or civilians.

The Red Cross said there were 13,000 tons of food on hand, and that another 10,000 tons would be available within days.

In London, Prime Minsiter Harold Wilson announced that Britain would give Nigeria $12 million for relief work in Biafra. The Lagos government temporarily banned British military planes from flying into its territory, but it earlier had notified Britain it would accept emergency supplies flown in by civilian aircraft.

U.S. Undersecretary of State Elliot L. Richardson said in Washington that the United States has put $2 million at the disposal of the Nigerian Red Cross and has informed the United Nations Children's Fund that it has 48 trucks ready to be airlifted to Nigeria.

17 Fines Levied In Magistrate Court

NEW MADRID — Seventeen fines were levied on misdemeanor charges in magistrate court by Judge Leo Hedgepeth.

Fined for careless and imprudent driving were Don William Apperson, wrong side of road, $30; Larry Neal Erwin, failure to yield right- of- way, $15; Janet Sue Gray, failure to stop at stop sign, $15; Louie M. LaFerney, failure to yield right- of- way, $25; Henry W. Kaiser, failure to exercise highest degree of care, $35; Addie Alline Stokes, failure to yield right- of- way, $35; and George Martin Holland, failure to exercise highest degree of care, $20.

Henry Dean Dark forfeited $35 bond on a charge of careless and imprudent driving, passing at an intersection.

Ernest George Brown charged with driving while intoxicated and having no operator license was assessed $125 fine.

Speeding charges brought fines against Ernest Walter Watkins and Miluse Misurec, $35, each; James E. Mason, $30 and George Ed Qualls, $25.

Coy Dewey Williams paid $20 fine on charges of having no operator license and improper registration.

Judge Hedgepeth assessed $15 fines each against James Earnest Leathes Jr., improper parking; L. T. Strickland, no operator license; W. D. Simmon, no vehicle license; and George Ronald Stringer, improper registration.

Judgments in civil suits were awarded Liberty Loan Corporation, $127.81 against J. W. Tucker; and $54.62 judgment to Junior Trail against Ferrell Bost.

Service was returned non est, unable to locate in the county in a civil suit filed by MFA Oil Company against Artina Rush.

The moon is at First Quarter today and sets tomorrow at 1:12 a.m.

The planet Saturn is the bright "star" nearest the moon tonight and tomorrow night. The rings of Saturn are visible this year but only with the aid of a telescope.

Main Breaks, East Prairie Without Water

EAST PRAIRIE — A main water line in an alley between Main and Pine streets, broke, causing the city to be without water between 4:45 p.m. and 7:15 p.m. Tuesday.

The cause of the break was said to be freezing weather.

Five Injured

Five were treated in Missouri Delta Community hospital Tuesday:

Nixon Orders Substantial New Cuts in Forthcoming Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has ordered further substantial last-minute cuts in his forthcoming budget — perhaps in an effort to avoid seeking major new taxes from Congress in 1970.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said today that Nixon informed his Cabinet at a three-hour session Tuesday that "substantial additional economies should be made" beyond what earlier had been regarded as the final budget levels for the 1971 fiscal year that begins July 1.

Ziegler acknowledged that the eleventh hour budget revisions could delay until early February presentation of the new federal spending blueprint.

Asked if the President ordered the new cuts in an effort to avoid seeking new tax revenues from Congress, Ziegler said that the budget could be balanced either by cutting spending or raising taxes—or some combination of the two. He said he could not speculate on which course Nixon would take.

However, he acknowledged that the budget, as it stood before Nixon's new order, already showed a surplus.

To some, that suggested the chief executive had decided that further reductions in federal outlays would be politically more palatable in an election year than requests for more taxes.

Administration sources estimate the budget message will call for a spending total of around $202 billion to $203 billion.

When asked if Nixon might make an effort to cut the fiscal 1971 spending total below the current level, Ziegler said the President "is not going to be involved in gimmickry."

He would not say, however, if Nixon now plans a budget below $200 billion.

No Proof of Drugs on Sikeston High School Property

By CHARLES BRADY

The use and abuse of marijuana, drugs, and narcotics in Missouri and across the nation has caused health officials on federal and state levels to develop and increase programs to fight the problem.

The indiscriminate use of drugs has reached every field of business and received national attention last fall when entertainer Art Linkletter's 20- year - old daughter took drugs and leaped to her death from a building.

Linkletter attended a briefing on President Nixon's proposals dealing with the problem and urged that an educational program be aimed at parents and youngsters starting in the primary grades.

This two- part series will deal with the problems in Sikeston and the surrounding area in association primarily among high school and college students. The first part of this series will deal with the drug problem in Missouri and the school system of Sikeston and what it is doing to combat it.

Dr. Ray Knowles, Jefferson City director of the drug and narcotics abuse section of the Missouri division of health, states that "marijuana use is widespread in high schools and colleges in Missouri" and that "concern is growing that marijuana users will also graduate to use purer forms of its potent principal, hashish."

Knowles has said that one of the most alarming aspects of the drug situation in this state is the lack of discrimination with which young drug abusers approach pharmacologic agents. Too many youths in the state are too casual in "validating the true nature of drugs offered them," he said.

Knowles also stated that drug abusers on college campuses have added to the abolishment of the urban- outstate idea since colleges bring together students from all parts of the state and other states. Drugs are thus brought from college centers to outstate areas and there have been repeated cases in which this has led to exposure of high school age youths.

Alton Blakeslee, an Associated Press science writer, reports at high schools and colleges, arrests for possession of marijuana and other drugs are increasing."

A psychologist added that "any drug education which is not scrupulously honest will fail with the kids. Once you exaggerate, you lose them."

Simple possession of marijuana is a felony punishable by jail terms of two to 10 years or more.

Roger Sherman, principal of Sikeston high school, said.

"To my knowledge, there is no proof of drugs on this campus. There are always rumors, of course, but nothing to substantiate them. We have checked a few lockers in the past but have never found anything."

Sherman outlined what the school system is doing.

He said that in March of 1969 the air force had a group on campus that presented a film on LSD usage and that the navy also showed a film on drug abuse.

Sherman said that Sgt. Dan Harmon of the Cape Girardeau highway patrol presented a program to a Parent- Teacher Association meeting last October dealing with drugs.

Sherman said that on Jan. 21 an executive meeting will be held in Sikeston to make plans on a workshop for teachers in a three- county area. Sherman said "it will be an educational program concerning drug usage, identification, and abuse. There will be a team out of Farmington to present this."

He added that the committee setting up the workshop will be headed by Chet Masterson.

Sherman also said that assemblies are held occasionally dealing with drugs. He said that films were shown to groups rather than to the whole student body at one time to get better results.

An anonymous questionnaire was given to some college students who are or were taking drugs. A few comments:

"I could lose all my worries and imagine many things."

"They are our only means of feeling love (in the general, perhaps Christian sense) in this debacle of self- destruction."

"I have stopped taking drugs... It became too easy to 'groove' on something... without ever coming to terms with real problems, without really thinking."

"I consider it now a part of the growing up process. It was an answer. It no longer is."

A Sikeston physician noted a few signs of drug taking but said that the signs could have been induced by normal illness.

These signs are: a break in the normal pattern of a person's life; in the early stages of using marijuana, the person may be stimulated and very animated, or behave in a silly fashion. Later, he may seem sleepy or stuporous, barbiturates (goofballs) may make a person appear drunk, but with no odor of alcohol on his breath; and the person drugged on heroin usually appears sleepy and lethargic, or even very intoxicated. Pupils of the eye may be constricted, not responding to light.

A controversial issue is whether marijuana should be legalized.

A random poll of 15 Sikeston residents produced these results: legal marijuana, 2; illegal marijuana, 8; and five said that they knew nothing about the drug.

A few comments:

"I don't know that much about drugs to say one way or the other."

"I think it should remain illegal because it leads to more harmful drugs."

"I see no harm in it. It's not habit forming."

"I think the penalty should be reduced for having marijuana but I still don't think it should be legal."

The second of this series will be presented next week. It will deal with high schools and other organizations and their role in controlling drug use and abuse.

Israel Raps French Arms Deal

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel accused France today of trying to cover up its arms deal with Libya and said the French have joined the Russians in upsetting the power balance in the Middle East.

Foreign Minister Abba Eban told the "parliament—that France's Mideast policy was "absolutely one-sided and without any equality, justice or truth."

Eban spoke in response to several parliamentary motions condemning the projected French sale of 50 Mirage jets to Libya.

Israeli officials already have expressed concern that the warplanes supplied to Libya will be made available to Egypt for use in hostilities against Israel.

Freedom Sought for Stout

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Jerry Lynn Stout asked the Missouri Supreme Court Tuesday to free him of a charge of murder in the beating death of Mrs. Judith Ann Frieders of Columbia, Mo., July 18, 1968.

Stout's attorney, Everett S. VanMatre, filed a habeas corpus petition declaring that Stout had been refused bail Jan. 9 by Circuit Judge John M. Cave.

Stout also faces a charge of assault with intent to kill in the severe beating given Mrs. Frieders' husband, Garry Allan Frieders. At the time Frieders was attending the University of Missouri on an athletic scholarship.

The petition to the Supreme Court said Stout had been "held to excessive bail on one charge and denied bail altogether on the other charge." Bail in the assault case was set earlier at $50,000.

Truck Registrations Extended

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The state Division of Motor Vehicles, acting on an executive order from Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, has extended the time for truck and trailer operators to get their vehicles inspected and licensed to Feb. 28.

Harry Smith, motor vehicle supervisor, said today the extension beyond the statutory Jan. 15 deadline had not been announced earlier because of the fear truck owners would delay action unnecssarily. He said registrations "have been coming in pretty good" because owners were trying to meet the Jan. 15 deadline.

Last year the legislature tried unsuccessfully to set up a staggered system of registration for trucks and trailers, just as is done now on passenger cars. He said owners of the state's 500,000 trucks have a hard time getting their vehicles inspected and registered under the present limits.

Wardell Man Injured in Fall from Truck

Three highway accidents caused injury to four, the most serious is a man who fell out of truck.

Kelly Tipler, 65, Wardell, is in the Pemiscot County Memorial hospital in Hayti following a fall Tuesday afternoon on route B, south of Wardell.

Tipler fell out of a moving truck. He suffered a fractured skull and broken right leg.

He was unable to give authorities the name of the driver or tell how the accident occurred.

A Bollinger county accident Tuesday at 6 p.m. in Scopus, injured two.

A 1969 Ford pickup truck, driven by John Cook, 40, Marble Hill, pulled from a stop sign into the path of a 1969 Mustang, driven by Raymond Webb, 21, Scopus, the state patrol said.

Cook received a possible neck injury, and a passenger in the Webb car, Tonie Ivey, 15, Marble Hill, was scratched on her forehead and face. Both were treated at Southeast Missouri hospital in Cape Girardeau and released.

A one- car accident Tuesday at 2:25 p.m. on highway 60, one and one- half miles east of Doniphan sent Alvin Hamilton. 43, Doniphan, to the Ripley County Memorial hospital in Doniphan, where he was treated for cuts on his face and legs.

He was driving a 1968 Oldsmobile when he lost control, ran off the road and struck a concrete culvert.

Carbon Monoxide in Cigarettes Called Heart Disease Hazard

NEW YORK (AP) — Swedish scientists said today that carbon monoxide from cigarette smoke is "very likely" part of the reason smokers develop more coronary heart disease.

If this is so, they said, it means that scientists concerned about preventive medicine will have to take a look at all forms of exposure of people to carbon monoxide, such as automobile exhaust.

The carbon monoxide from cigarette smoke gets into the bloodstream, the scientists said, where it appears to pave the way for the accumulation of cholesterol in the arteries.

An excess of cholesterol is one factor that has been implicated in the incidence of heart disease. Deposits of the fatty substance clog the arteries, preventing normal flow of blood and oxygen.

The new report came from Drs. Poul Astrup, Knud Kjeldsen and John Wanstrup of the department of clinical chemistry at the Royal Hospital in Copenhagen. Dr. Astrup described work on rabbits and studies of humans at a conference on biological effects of carbon monoxide sponsored by the New York Academy of Sciences.

Dr. Astrup said his department noticed high concentrations of carbon monoxide in the blood of young men with coronary artery diseases.

Carbon monoxide, a poisonous gas released by combustion, combines with hemoglobin in the blood, displacing vital oxygen.

About 10 per cent of the smokers they studied, Dr. Astrup said, had unusually high levels of a compound formed by the carbon monoxide and hemoglobin-a compound called carboxylhemoglobin. The levels reached 10 to 20 per cent.

The high levels were linked to individual smoking habits, such as depth and duration of inhalation.

To check their observations, Dr. Astrup said that in one series of experiments, two groups of rabbits were fed cholesterol, but only one group was also exposed to carbon monoxide.

The accumulation of cholesterol in the arterial walls of rabbits exposed to carbon monoxide was three to five times as much as in those given only cholesterol, Dr. Astrup said. In tests on rabbits who were not given any cholesterol, the carbon monoxide produced damage in the walls of the arteries.

Orán Man Says He Was Stabbed

Jim Stacey, Oran, reported to police last night he was stabbed three times in the left side as he walked toward the Wagon Wheel tavern on West Malone.

Stacey did not know who stabbed him, officers said. Robbery was not the motive.

A friend of Stacey's took him to the Missouri Delta Community Hospital for treatment.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

We wonder if OEO Director Donald Rumsfield would of overriden Governor Hearnes veto, of the 2.3 million antipoverty funds if he had of been a Republican governor.

The governor was right in his veto.

County Chief Roos was right in his withdrawal of funds.

The United fund of St. Louis was right in its veto of help for the Legal Aid society.

The Great Society - minded Department of Health, Education and Welfare has lifted requirements for anyone needing welfare. On Nov. 20, HEW told the 50 states they would have to grant welfare aid to any applicant who says he needs it. The HEW order said there should be no investigation of "eligibility." The move smacked of "The Trap" tactic, because the incoming administration would have to make a ruling as to whether to continue the relaxation of welfare requirements. The Washington Star noted that 40 percent of all welfare recipients in the District of Columbia had been found by social workers "to be ineligible."

The news of the death of Superintendent Rov V. Ellise brings sadness to the heart of the editor.

Prof. Ellise when he was in charge of the Sikeston Schools brought to Sikeston the editors wife of thirty eight years, Katherine Smith. We shall always hold in our heart a big place for the Ellise family.

When we were in Florida four years ago we had the pleasure of visiting with the Ellises. At that time Mr. Ellise was showing what age will and can do to a person.

His death will place in the hearts of many Sikeston folks a touch of sadness.

MILITARY DISSENT VS. AUTHORITY

According to an Associated Press news item, an "anti-war" group on the Strategic Air Command (Barksdale Air Force) Base in Louisiana is upset because certain of their numbers have lost stripes, been transferred and/or investigated. We fail to find any reason for their objections. It is the duty of the military to defend "the national security". That means us: we the people. And anyone who has any knowledge of the extremist leadership of some of the "anti-war" groups can readily understand the reason for concern when that element invades our vital protective networks, such as the SAC.

Americans do not challenge the right to dissent. But few people can challenge the fact that the military is not a valid place for that dissent. There are many examples throughout history of takeovers of the military by radical elements. The records show that these takeovers invariably lead to the overthrow of the civilian government. One need look to our Latin American neighbors for proof of this.

In the United States, the military is subject to control by the civil government with the President of the United States as the Commander - in - Chief. This chain of command requires obedience to authority. Therefore there must be strict discipline in effect at all times. Demonstrations outside of military bases is one thing; demonstrations inside the military is another matter. And GI participation in protest movements, on or off base, is something to be viewed with all due concern.

General Douglas MacArthur challenged the authority of President Truman during the Korean - UNDECLARED - War. And for this action he was summarily removed, despite the overwhelming support of the people. Should the current handful of dissidents in uniform be considered better than an outstanding military leader who gave so many decades of his life in service to our nation? Is there a different code of conduct for privates than there is for Generals? It is truly remarkable how the left-leaning demonstrators claim all of their "rights", except the right to be held accountable for their acts.

It is time for the rest of us to "launch a protest", on behalf of the thousands who serve and have served in our armed services without question. If there are those (and apparently there are a few) within the military who dislike what the military must do, as its duty, then let us give the disgruntled their freedom and return them to the status as private, self-supporting citizens - with dishonorable discharges.

ALCOHOL AND HIGHWAY SAFETY

If we could eliminate all causes of highway accidents but one, we would still be faced with 50 per cent of the problem -- drinking and driving.

"The drinking driver is the largest single threat to life on the highway today," said Howard Pyle, President of the National Safety Council.

Alcohol acts as an anesthetic on the central nervous system. It is carried by the blood to all parts of the body -- including the brain. Concentration of alcohol in the bloodstream is determined by:

-the amount of alcohol consumed
-the length of time since the drinking began
-the length of time since the last drink
-body weight
-the quantity and kind of food in the stomach at the time of drinking

Alcohol impairs the physical and mental skills necessary to drive an automobile.

The result: more than 25,000 needless deaths in 1968 alone. Alcohol was a factor in half of the 55,200 traffic fatalities during 1968, according to the National Safety Council.

Individual states have become increasingly aware that they must take drastic steps to control the problem of the drinking driver. Most states now require chemical tests to determine the blood - alcohol concentration of persons involved in traffic accidents, and 20 states define the presumptive level of intoxication at 0.10 per cent. Two states have slightly higher presumptive levels. Utah considers a blood - alcohol concentration of 0.08 per cent presumptive evidence of intoxication.

A presumptive level of 0.15 per cent, considered too high in light of recent studies, is still retained by 24 states. An Indiana University study revealed that, when a driver's blood - alcohol concentration reaches 0.15 per cent, the chances of his being involved in a traffic accident are 25 times greater than if his body were essentially free of alcohol. Three states have no presumptive level of intoxication.

"Implied consent" is another important facet of any attempt to reduce highway deaths and injuries involving alcohol. This provision specifies that any person placed under arrest for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol be deemed to have given his consent to a chemical test. If he does not consent, his drivers license is suspended or revoked.

Definition of the presumptive level of intoxication at 0.10 per cent and the "implied consent" provision are both part of the national State Highway Safety Program Standard dealing with Alcohol in Relation to Highway Safety. This standard is one of 16 established by the National Highway Safety Bureau under the Highway Safety Act of 1966. The standards are designed to save lives and reduce injuries by improving accident prevention methods used in state highway safety programs.

NEW TREATMENT FOR SENILITY

It's not the growing old that's so sad; it's the growing dim.

Medical scientists have long believed that an impaired oxygen supply to the brain, caused by hardening of the cerebral arteries, is largely responsible for the progressive decline in mental alertness in elderly people suffering from senility. Up to now, however, there is little that could be done about it.

"Geriatric Focus" reports the encouraging work of a team of investigators from the New York State University School of Medicine with 13 male patients, aged 53 to 76, at the VA hospital in Buffalo.

All of the patients had been hospitalized, some for several years, because of severe deterioration resulting from chronic brain syndrome associated with cerebral arteriosclerosis. All showed marked loss of recent memory and lack of interest in their surroundings and were incapable of self-care.

It was first determined that the men were in good health otherwise. Next they took a battery of psychological tests. Then they were given two 90-minute session a day for 15 days in a hyperbaric (high - pressure) chamber under 2.5 times normal atmospheric pressure. They breathed 100 per cent oxygen by mask.

Within 24 hours after their last session in the chamber, they were again psychologically tested. Significant improvement, ranging from 35 to 300 per cent, was found in their scores.

Clinical results were equally remarkable. The patients became more active, sleep better and showed renewed interest in their surroundings. For example, they began reading newspapers and magazines.

Even more important, they were once again able to care for themselves. A number of them could go home on visits and four were so improved that they were discharged from the hospital and have not required readmission.

The investigators are now conducting studies on the duration of the changes to try to find the falling - off point at which patients need booster treatments.

Hyperbaric treatment of all senile individuals is not feasible, of course. Some simpler method of delivering oxygen to the brain will have to be devised before we can say that this major scourge of old age is defeated.

But now there is hope.

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a vice president gets tired of hearing:

"Often a bridesmaid—never the bride."

"He's the kind of guy who always gets the second best job, the second best secretary, the office with the second best view. Even his season football tickets are on the 45-yard line."

"The boss was tied up, sir, so they referred me to you."

"I hear his son was just elected vice president of his class in college. It must be a family curse."

"I'm taking this cup of coffee to the president, Mr. Tiswell. Do you mind if I bring yours in a little later?"

"What does he really do? Well, he seems to be in charge of turning out the lights and burying things under the rug."

"Oh, Mr. Tiswell, won't give you any trouble. All you have to do is be sure to order roses for his wife on her birthday, and be sure to get a new cushion for his swivel chair every three months."

"No, he doesn't come up with many new ideas, but why should he? There's nothing that makes the president of a firm more annoyed than vice presidents with a lot of fresh ideas. He's sure they're after his job. The only safe time to have an idea is before you become a vice president."

"I wouldn't say that Tiswell is an apple polisher, but I've noticed that when the boss comes out to attend the annual office Christmas party, Tiswell is the first to start singing, 'For he's a jolly good fellow.'"

"His biggest decision every day is whether to have a third martini at lunch, and nine out of 10 days he votes yes."

"I'm going to spend next week in Florida, Tiswell, and want you to take charge of the office for me. If anything really important comes up, my secretary will get in touch with me."

"He has been saying yes at the office so long that his wife was able to wheedle a fur coat out of him this year because he had forgotten how to say no."

"His biggest ambition is to be vice president in charge of all the other vice presidents."

"I took the liberty, Mr. Tiswell, of showing some of the doodles you've made during conferences to a friend of mine at the Museum of Modern Art. Now the museum wants to buy several for permanent exhibition."

Some of the most useful and beneficial consumer products are not fully acceptable to the public.

The result may be a loss to consumer and seller alike. For instance, the per capita consumption of milk has not kept pace with increases in population and wealth. Yet milk is one of the best and complete of all foods. It is also relatively cheap.

In such a situation, competing dairies and retailers of milk products are finding it to their mutual advantage to join hands in advertising the advantage of drinking milk. The producers and sellers of other beverages long ago recognized the advantage of a joint advertising effort.

Widespread use of frozen orange juice came from an extensive advertising program which convinced the public that the product was good, healthful and inexpensive.

Similarly the coffee industry was literally salvaged from obliteration by advertising which popularized the coffee break. Beer consumption has been maintained by extensive, long-range advertising.

Milk has always been such a highly regarded food that it never occurred to anyone that a day would come when an affluent generation would have to be re- educated as to its value.

But the best of products may be replaced by inferior goods when public is not stimulated to select high quality on the basis of complete information.

Doc. Duncan Says

For years commercialism has did more damage to more people in the U.S. than any other. Inflation, price fixing, monopoly every way one turns - and it seems no one in the drivers seat in the past decade has dared to use the laws on the books that broke the back of the depression in the 1930s. The boys in the drivers seat has the bullets at their command but the boys in the ditch have the ballets to bring our nation back under God and the people from where it came if they will use their head and their ballots in time to avoid a new constitution that maybe cooked up to sweep away any voice of the people, without their consent, refusing to be rocked to sleep in the cradle of partyism, communism or any other ism. Wake up from the sweet dream - world apathy and etc. and face the facts of life. The sands are running law in the hourglass of time. Forget party and live.

H.L. Hunt Says

What is right is good; what is wrong is bad. It is bad that most human beings on this planet are undernourished and always have been. It is good that during the past 100 years a few people in a small portion of the earth have become concerned about hunger and want to do something about it.

Trying to do something about hunger and maluntrition is good. Using the wrong means can do more harm than the hunger mankind has always lived with. Killing and robbing the creative producers can only increase the hunger and misery among men. Communism is the primitive economic system which spreads the shortages so that no one except the political party masters has enough of anything.

Freedom spreads the opportunity for everyone to have enough of both necessities and luxuries. under Republic USA's system of freedom even the most poverty-stricken here take for granted luxuries beyond the dreams of most of the rest of mankind.

Some cannot achieve affluence under any system but to destroy the opportunities and freedoms of all by making false promises to a few is evil self-destruction. Creative production is no accident. Republic USA has been the most productive society in history because it has the right system.

Improving the system will come from creative thought and work not from violence and destruction. Right is beautiful because it is right. This is the lesson American history will teach us if we are willing to learn. Wrong is bad, as the history of communism teaches all who will open their eyes and see. The fact that right is beautiful can be the beginning of a grand idea if many will add their thoughts. HLH

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON--A powerful, unpublicized lobby has been working in the backrooms of Congress to let mutual fund operators feed greedily on millions of small investors.

There are five million mutual fund shareholders, many of them salting away a few hundred dollars a year for a child's college or for retirement. Millions more belong to pension funds and investor groups which own mutual securities.

For years, the mutual fund operators have been getting away with outrageous overcharges. By the industry's own dubious figures, investors paid out a shocking $190 million in advisory fees alone during the 1969 fiscal year.

Contract investors, who comprise about 10 per cent of the mutual fund shareholders, often pay 15 to 50 per cent of their investment to the voracious fund hustlers. Mutual funds with reasonable fees have either failed or had a hard time operating, because salesmen openly scorn the lower commissions.

Last year, the securities and exchange commission made a timid attempt to give the poor shareholders a break. It endorsed Legislation that would protect the investors from paying unreasonable fees and permit them to collect refunds for overpayments.

--DOUBLE DEALING--

But the mutual fund lobbyists got busy in the backrooms to out-maneuver the sec. An outraged sec chairman Hamer Budge came close to accusing them of an outright "Double Cross" in their dealings with the commission.

He specifically named the Investment Company Institute and the Association of Mutual Fund Plan sponsors, which represent 90 per cent of the $55 Billion in mutual fund assets in the United States. Their lobbyists, cool and convivial, demonstrated their quiet skill at wheeling and double-dealing.

Here's the backstage story of how they put the screws to the SEC and the small investors:

In the past, the SEC had failed to curtail the Mutual Fund Operators' runaway fees, because of the magic they were able to work on Capitol Hill. But public pressure built up last year for reforms.

The powers in Congress advised the SEC, in effect, to work up legislation that would mollify the public but still be acceptable to the mutual fund operators. Last April, the SEC sat down with the brilliant President of the ICA, Robert Augenblick, to try to reach some agreement.

In long days of talks, the SEC gave up one point after another. But finally, the SEC thought it had an agreement with Augenblick and other industry representatives that they would not block a bill, which would give shareholders a right to sue for fair fees and would make a few other reforms.

Word of the "Agreement" reached the Senate, which assumed that the Securities Industry would would not oppose the weak measure and, therefore, passed it unanimously.

Months passed before house hearings were set for November 12. Two days before the hearings, Augenblick informed a dumbfounded Budge that the Mutual Fund Operators now also wanted a self-regulation clause in the bill. The effect of this would be to nullify the meager reforms.

--BEWILDERED BUDGE--

Budge had been so sure his agreement with the industry was solid that he had mimeographed his testimony and had sent advance copies to the House Committee, telling of the SEC agreement with the Mutual Fund men. Now, he was obliged to summon his aides to the office on November 11, the Veterans Day Holiday, to help him rush out a rewrite.

Later Budge bitterly denounced the Mutual Fund Representatives for welshing on their agreement.

Reached by this column, spokesmen for both the big Mutual Fund Groups denied vehemently and at some length that they were double-crossing the SEC. David Grayson, speaking for the Mutual Fund Plan sponsors, told my associate, Leslie Whitten, that it was all a "misunderstanding."

Explained Augenblick: "With the Passage of time, it seemed that the self-regulation provision was worth having."

Under self-regulation, the Mutual Fund Operators have been charging exorbitant fees and have been growing fat on the payments of their customers. Salesmen have tried to justify the avaracious fees with the claim that they are selling "security." But the sorry performance of the average fund in 1969 belies all talk of "security."

It can be demonstrated statistically that a blindfolded man with a dart and a list of stocks would have done better, in many cases, than did the Mutual Fund Operators.

Meanwhile, the Mutual Fund reforms are languishing in the House Commerce and Finance Subcommittee while the SEC tries to work out another agreement with the glib operators.

Chairman John Moss, D-Calif., is fighting a lone battle inside the subcommittee for the reforms. He is opposed by Representatives Bill Stuckey, D-Ga., G. Robert Watkins, R-Pa., and Fletcher Thompson, R-Ga., who are working behind the scenes with the Mutual Fund men to fleece the small investors.

--POLICE CORRUPTION--

The narcotics underworld in the nation's Capital has succeeded in enlisting two, perhaps three, more policemen. Their cases are on the way to a Federal Grand Jury.

At least once, a police car was used to transport narcotics.

City and Federal officials have refused all comment. However, this column correctly reported on November 26 that several police officers were under investigation. In mid-December, two were arrested for Heroin possession. One was mysteriously murdered, gangland-style, a few days later.

This penetration of Washington police comes at a time when Big-League Mafia figures have stepped into the Heroin traffic in the Capital.

The two or three additional officers involved in drug trafficking are among some 20 whose names were turned into the Metropolitan Police Department's Internal Investigation division. Most of these leads turned out to be false rumors, a precinct-House bad mouthing, and unprovable allegations.

In the new cases, the two or three policement were involved in pay-offs, use of narcotics and actual drug hustling.

THE KENNEDY BANNER: Morgenthau To Carry It Against Gov. Rockefeller

New York: -- This is the state where the politicos are going for broke. They'll have to if they would match the money Gov. Nelson Rockefeller plans to pour into his campaigning to prevent them from driving him out of politics.

Rarely has one billionaire faced such formidable legions. He has more enemies than Gama l Abdel Nasser has threats. Leading a united front of virtually all liberals, from surviving veterans of Franklin Roosevelt's day to the remnants of the Kennedys is Mayor John V. Lindsay. The mayor tells me he will not personally run against Nelson Rockefeller and that he will stay on as this city's chief executive for another four years.

He does not want to jeopardize his chances for a national nomination. So he says he will not bolt the Republicans.

But the word is that Gov. Rockefeller must go. Who will run against him? There have been talks with Franklin Roosevelt Jr. "who is considering."

But there also is the 50-year-old tall, thin, bespectacled, high-foreheaded intellectual Robert Morgenthau (which stands for morning dew, he explains.) He wants to run against Mr. Rockefeller. And it is he and only he now who can carry the mantle, the tradition, the affection, the support, the banner of the Kennedys.

To most folks, Mr. Morgenthau is Mr. District Attorney--the man who cracked the power of the five Cosa Nostra families in New York; the man who knows where the bodies are buried; the man who defied Richard Nixon and Attorney General John Mitchell.

But to insiders, Mr. Morgenthau, now nominally one of three New York City deputy mayors, is a much loved and respected member of the Kennedy family itself--not of the power hungry Arthur Schlesinger-Adam Walinsky-Kenneth Galbraith set. Few, for example, are aware that Bob Morgenthau, then U.S. attorney for the New York Southern District was lunching with Bob and Ethel Kennedy on their terrace in McLean, Va. on Nov. 22, 1963. Also at the table was Mr. Morgenthau's anticrime special assistant, Syl Mallo.

Suddenly word came "Mr. Hoover is on the phone." Bob Kennedy crossed the pool grounds, listened, clasped his hand to his mouth, and said nothing.

Then, the Attorney General (Bob Kennedy) returned to the table. "The President has been shot in Dallas," he said tonelessly. "And may be fatal." He turned his back. Ethel Kennedy moved quickly to his side. Then Kennedy rushed into the house and onto the phone. Mr. Morgenthau and Mr. Mallo strode into the TV room to watch what we all watched.

"I did not want to leave," Bob Morgenthau said later. "There were no other men at the house and we did not know if there was a conspiracy and Ethel might be caught up in it. Then Bob walked in and said simply 'he's dead,' and walked out."

Ethel Kennedy never has forgotten those moments. Most of the Kennedys know that if Bob Kennedy ever had become president he intended to name Bob Morgenthau as Director of the FBI.

And the word is that most of the Kennedys now see him as the one man who can pull the New York Democrats together. This would be fine with Mayor John V. Lindsay. And it appears that it would be fine with Republican U.S. Senator Charles Goodell, who also has national visions. The Senator and the Mayor had a two-hour secret session at the rococo City Hall here two weeks ago. Secret is secret. But Gov. Rockefeller's name was not taken in vain. It was clobbered again and again.

The tactic is as simple as the strategy -- keep Robert Morgenthau in the news, get him the Democratic nomination for governor, rally all forces around him as the man of progress, law and order in the streets withjustice, a Bubonic plague for the Mafia, the man who knows where the scandals are in the state, get him endorsed by everybody from John Lindsay to Frank Rosetti, chief of Tammany Hall, and from the elder statesman Arthur Goldberg to the new left, topple Rockefeller, and then take control of the powerful New York State Republican Party. Thus Messrs. Goodell and Lindsay would turn the State GOP into the party's new left and attempt to coalesce similar forces in other states.

All in time for the 1972 national convention. This would be no challenge to President Nixon. But it would leave no doubt in Vice President Agnew's mind whose hot breath is on his neck.

But Gov. Nelson Rockefeller isn't about to play dead for the middle-aged youth now assaulting him. He has some strength in labor circles-- though not as much as he once had among the construction trades. He has strength in the civil service. And he is wooing the rank and file with a drive for $1.85 an hour minimum wage.

But he is vulnerable on one front--the Middle East. There is sharp resentment among the powerful needle trade and their allies over the stand taken by his brother David, head of the Chase Manhattan Bank, during a conference with President Nixon late last year. David Rockefeller was among those who urged greater friendship to the Arab lands and the abandoning of Israel's favored position in the White House - which goes back to the days of Harry Truman.

There is enough resentment here, in this most intense and emotional issue, to set back Gov. Rockefeller--especially if the race is between him and Bob Morgenthau.

Thus the national and international crosswinds whip up and down this chilled state. But it is a long way to November. Anything can happen and usually does.

Hostess Feeds Cat At Table And Upsets Guest...Worried About Germs

Dear Ann Landers: Last week my husband and I were invited to dinner in the home of new friends. The main course was fish, which I thought rather odd since not everyone likes fish and it wasn't Friday.

Halfway through the dinner a huge grey striped cat appeared out of nowhere and hopped up on the hostess' lap. Quick as a flash, the cat had his face in the plate and he ate every bit of fish. When he finished, he jumped off the woman's lap and raced out of the room. The hostess appeared unconcerned and she didn't say one word to the cat. I was horrified.

Finally, I couldn't keep quiet another minute. I asked, "Does the cat jump on your lap and eat off your plate very often?" She gave me a look that suggested I was an idiot and replied emphatically, "Any doctor will tell you cats are cleaner than people. The chances of Tabby catching something from ME are much greater than my catching something from him."

I could not respond since I do not have the facts. Do you?--Shocked

Dear Shocked: The bacterial count varies from human to human and cat to cat. One would have to examine both the hostess and Tabby to determine the possibility of one infecting the other.

Although animals do sometimes carry diseases, physicians agree that as a general rule, a healthy human would not get sick from eating off the same plate with a cat or a dog. A guest who is unaccustomed to the sight, however, might become nauseated or suffer a sudden loss of appetite. In my opinion, the practice is extremely unesthetic and I don't recommend it.

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter signed, "Blood is Thicker Than Water." The girl's brother had written his wife asking her to meet him at the airport when he returns from Vietnam. He had requested specifically that she come alone and not bring his parents or any other members of the family. The GI's sister was hurt and his parents were crushed.

My story is a little different, but I hope you will print it.

My husband decided to surprise me when he came home from Vietnam. He wrote his parents and asked them to meet him at the airport but he made them promise not to tell. They agreed. Can you imagine how I felt when I entered his parent's living room and saw the entire family---aunts, uncles, cousins, friends and neighbors---and then Joe walked in! What should have been the happiest experience of my life turned out to be a nightmare. After dreaming of our reunion for months, and counting the days, I had to share that precious moment with a pack of relatives!

I don't think I'll ever get over it. I hope you will print this letter, Ann. It might spare another GI's wife from going thru the same thing.---Last To Know

Dear Last: Your letter is a fine example of how good intentions can go haywire because someone didn't use his head. A husband's homecoming should not be used as a parlor trick.

Thank your lucky stars that he did come home and forget about the rest. About 31,000 American wives would give anything to change places with you.

How will you know when the real thing comes along? Ask Ann Landers. Send for her booklet "Love or Sex And How To Tell The Difference." Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

LONDON (AP) — Designer Hardy Amies dropped hemlines to mid-calf today at the opening of London's 1970 spring and summer high fashion showings.

But Amies, who makes some of the queen's clothes, was clearly not going to leave himself out on a limb on the hemline issue.

"The designer can only suggest," he noted on the show program. His own suggestion was skirts that just clear the knee for tweeds, with the longer length for softer materials cut on the bias. The only all- the- way- to the- floor maxis he showed were for evening.

The three- piece classic suit made a big comeback and there was more than a hint of Chanel in many of the boxy jackets with four flapped pockets.

Amies colors are navy and white above all, with yellows, gray, green, off white and apricot. There are many three-toned checks and prints, and materials are either roughly textured tweeds or smooth flat gaberdines, jerseys and flannels.

All the mannequins wore their hair in heavy, braided chignons low on the nape of the neck.

The trouser suit marched on in the Amies collection, this time with shorter shirt style jackets, or elongated sleeveless waistcoasts that nearly touched the ankle.

Host to Dignitaries

NEW YORK (AP) — "If this furniture only could talk, how it might break up history," mused interior designer David T. Williams as he scrutinized the results of his latest project, the renovation of the Waldorf Towers' Presidential Suite, often referred to as "The White House in New York."

Since it was opened in 1931, the four-bedroom suite, located on its own private corridor to afford proper security measures, has played host to every U.S. President from Hoover through Nixon. The U.S. State Department has first call on the apartment; consequently the list of visiting dignitaries who have occupied the 35th floor, $350-a-day apartment, reads like a Who's Who in history: Queen Elizabeth II, Harold Macmillan, King Hussein, King Saud, David Ben Gurion, Gen. Charles de Gaulle, Nikita Khrushchev.

"Because in many instances the Presidential Suite is the first American interior to be seen by a foreign notable, I felt it was extremely important to present the American image with as much dignity, elegance, formality and comfort as possible," says the soft-spoken Williams. In keeping with the idea of presenting the American interpretation of gracious living, a "home away from home," mixed English period pieces and American artists are the rule rather than the more elaborate French period furniture and European art masterpieces.

Actually about half the furniture in the refurbished suite is the same as was in the original. Very likely it was moved to a different locale; it may have been re-upholstered, but it's the same furniture nonetheless.

For inspiration, Williams studied the decorating treatment given various rooms in the White House and in many respects the new decor parallels that found in the President's Washington, D.C. home. For instance, the huge living room, on the style of the yellow Oval Room in the White House, is decorated in shades of gold and white with accents of persimmon — the color scheme originally chosen by Dolley Madison in 1809. The most striking characteristic of the old Towers' Presidential Suite, a living room wallpaper mural depicting scenic Americana, has given way to gold silk damask paper. "Deciding whether or not to retain the paper was my most difficult decision," recalled Williams, as he lovingly fingered a potted palm in a corner of the parlor. "I finally decided the mural had to go because it was such a difficult paper to decorate around.

Hornets Sting Hawks

By CHARLES BRADY

BENTON — The Kelly Hawks of Benton found out last night why the Advance Hornets are rated sixth in the state in class S and seventh in the district as Coach Carroll Cookson's quintet raced past the Hawks, 73 to 38.

Dennis Long led the first quarter attack for Advance that all but put the game on ice. Long dumped in 11 first quarter points in leading the Hornets to a huge 29 to 9 advantage.

Getting balanced scoring in the second stanza, the Hornets continued to pour it on building up a 44 to 16 score at intermission as Kelly could never get untracked against the bigger and faster squad from Advance.

The Hornets forced the Hawks into numerous turnovers and controlled both boards throughout the contest and the third period was no exception. Advance continued to use an even scoring attack to enjoy a 60 to 26 margin at the three-quarters mark.

With both teams substituting freely in the final stanza, the Hornets outscored Kelly 13 to 12 to come away with he easy win.

Joe Davis led the balanced attack for Kelly with 10 counters followed by Brian Summers with eight and Robin Burger with seven.

Four Advance players reached the double figures with Russell Berrong hitting for 19 counters followed by Gary Georger with 15, Tony Jenkins with 14, and Dennis Long with 13.

For coach Jim Chandler's Hawks, it marked the seventh defeat of the season to go with four victories.

The Advance Hornets took their 12 win of the year to go with only two losses.

The preliminary contest gave home town fans much more to cheer about as the Kelly junior varsity won a see- saw match against the highly regarded Advance B team 41 to 39.

The Hawks enjoyed an excellent first quarter to post a 17 to 13 lead but a long scoring drought in the second period saw the Hornets come back to even the score at halftime 23 all.

The visitors from Advance increased the pressure in the third stanza to build up a 33 to 29 lead and to set the stage for the Hawks comeback in the final quarter.

With Mike Morrow and Mike LeGrand doing the damage, the junior Hawks came back and passed the Hornets in the final period to come away with the two point win.

Morrow and LeGrand led the Kelly scoring with 16 and 10 points respectively.

Richard Hitt had 14 and Terry Wills added 12 for Advance.

For coach Dick Englehart's five, it marked their ninth win of the year with just two defeats.

Carroll Cookson's squad lost for only the third time in 15 outings.

Kelly will resume action Friday at East Prairie in a conference tilt with a preliminary game also scheduled.

Scoring:

KELLY "A" — Davis 10, Larry Ulmer 1, Summers 8, Burger 7, Margrabe 6, Brucker 4, and Ed Ulmer 2.

ADVANCE "A" - Jenkins 14, Berrong 19, Georger 15, Long 13, Daniel 6, Ridings 4, and Walker 2.

KELLY "B" — Deason 4, LeGrand 10, Morrow 16, John Urhahn 4, and Stricker 7.

ADVANCE "B" - Hitt 14, Abernathy 2, Scherer 2, Wills 12, Rhodes 2. Emerson 5, and Nelson 2.

New Madrid Routs Matthews, 74-59

NEW MADRID — The New Madrid Indians, used hustle, defense and rebounding to run its record to 13-0 with 74-59 basketball rout of Matthews last night.

New Madrid insured itself of at least a tie for the county conference title with last night's win as it remains the only unbeaten league team and one of two undefeated district quintets.

New Madrid used its famed defense to turn the game into an early rout as it sped away in the final minutes of the first quarter for an 18-11 lead and never trailed.

Rebounding also paid big dividents for coach Carroll Compton's tribe, as it dominated the boards over the talented jumping of Matthew's Kara Nunn, Clarence Brooks and Carl Bishop.

Coach Compton's squad was sparked by junior reserve Mark Barker who came in late in the first period and picked up the team, drawing charging fouls and stealing the ball.

Speedy George Ross dumped in 10 25-foot jumpers and handled the ball for the Indians who teamed behind Tucker's 25 points for the win.

The Indians cruised into a 33-29 halftime lead before opening up the second half for 40 points and led one by 20, 68-48, before the reserves came on and finished out the ball before the capacity crowd.

Coach Compton got outstanding play from reserves Mark Baker, George Mann and Richard Phillips as well as from starters Joe Walker, Nathaniel Malone, and George Mann.

It was a big win for the Indians, who rank second in the district behind undefeated Malden. Both are class M and won't meet until the state as each go separate ways for regionals in February.

Matthews had its troubles with rebounding and shooting as the team showed credentials of 15 of 30 from the charity line and even worse from the field.

Carl Bishop led Matthews scoring with 15 points.

The Pirates Kara Nunn was injured in the game, but returned to the floor to foul out with 2:08 left in the game. It was the fifth loss for the Pirates this season.

New Madrid started the evening with a 63-51 B win, giving it the leadership in the county standings.

Donald Tucker led the B win for the Indians with 15 points. Matthews' Lynn McCaster had 15 to tie for high game scoring honors.

East Prairie Tops Oran

EAST PRAIRIE — The Oran Eagles felt the absence of star Donald Evans, as Oran fell to the East Prairie Eagles 69-55. The East Prairie Eagles also came up with the JV win in a 52- 36 decision.

Oran beat the East Prairie Eagles in an earlier battle, as the Oran squad had numerous rebounds and high scoring from Evans. The Oran Eagles found themselves trailing throughout the game, as the first half was East Prairie's (18-13) and so was the rest of the match, for the Oran squad never saw the lead.

Taking up Evan's slack were Bradley Emerson and Tom Senciboy as the two provided for 13 and 11 of the Oran total.

The East Prairie Eagles produced a balanced scoring attack with four of the Eagles reaching the double figures bracket. Dennis Jefferies connected for 23 of the total, as Rob Falkoff and Steve Marshall hit 14 each, and James Moss added 12.

Jim Davis and Dennis Bennett lead scoring for the East Prairie's 52-36 JV victory, as he two hit 16 and 14 points. Taylor and Irwin hit 7 each for the Oran effort, as they fell.

Bernie Blows Lead; Loses To Dexter

DEXTER — Bernie blew a 12- point lead over Stoddard county rival Dexter last night and found itself with a 52-50 loss.

Dexter used a stiff defense that forced coach Ed Street's Bernie Mules into numerous mistakes and into the loss column as it out- scored Bernie 20-6 in the final period to post the win.

Bernie ripped out to a 16-8 first quarter lead and shot into a 44-32 lead going into the final quarter before turning the game over to the Bearcats.

Francis Guethle paced Dexter to its eighth win, scoring 16 points. Lloyd Hyten added 15 and Mick Lynch 13.

Coach Jim Hall's Bearcats again took the win at the charity line where it held an 18-13 advantage

Dexter also picked up the junior varsity win, posting a 48-15 victory.

A few conclusions about today's teen-agers:

1. I'm either shrinking in my old age or kids are definitely bigger. I don't know if its all the vitamins and orange juice or what, but when I'm walking down the street with them I find that 9 out of 10 could easily spit on my head (I'm happy to say all have been polite enough not to do so), and my line of vision consists strictly of shoulders and mid riffs, in fact, I was even greeted upon entering a school classroom one day with "Good grief," giggle, giggle," just look at that little thing, and she gonna teach us?"

2. The appearance of todays kids, (with the exception of a few hairy fellows) has definitely improved since my time. I like the fun clothes they wear - my generation always dressed just like their parents and that was pretty dull and unimaginative - while these teenagers have their own styles and a flair for wearing them. The girls with their elaborate make up and hair dos really amazes me - heavens, I thought the day I put on lipstick I was practically a painted woman, and if my hair had a good brushing, well I was as well-dressed and groomed as one ever got in those days. I have a sneaking suspicion that this is why I now can't get eye liner on without achieving a rather cross-eyed effect and my hair dos still look as though a brush has gone thru them and nothing more.

3. They are learning more than we did, for example, have you ever given this new math a whirl? I did (on the third grade level) and I am still whirling, but I believe all their studies are on a little higher level (course we've gone to the moon since then so why shouldn't they be), than back in the "olden days" when I was young.

However, before you teeny boppers get so puffed up from all this flattery that you soar to the moon on your own hot air, before this happens let me mention three things I have found lacking in the biggest part of todays youth that I think my generation and those before me had.

1. discipline
2. respect and courtesy for elders
3. a fair sense of right and wrong

Unfortunately, I find what is lacking to be much more important than what has been learned.

Foreign Suppliers Agree to Hold Lineon U.S. Meat Shipments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign meat suppliers have agreed to hold the line on U.S. shipments again this year so strict import quotas will be unnecessary, Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin announced Monday.

Based on foreign commitments, Hardin estimated 1970 meat imports at 1,061,500,000 pounds, about 26 million more than last year.

OBITUARIES

ILA KORNEGGER

PUXICO — Ila Mae Kornegger, 78, was dead on arrival at Lucy Lee hospital in Poplar Bluff following a heart attack Tuesday morning.

She was born in Chattanooga, July 10, 1891. She spent most of her life in Stoddard county.

On Dec. 24, 1913, she married K. G. Kornegger. He survives.

Other survivors are four sons, William Kornegger, Memphis, Rannie Kornegger, Baldwin, Calif., Robert Kornegger, Arnold, and Dean Kornegger, Puxico; two daughters, Mrs. Elmer Spangler, Bloomfield, and Mrs. Mae Spears, Sikeston; two brothers, William Reynolds, Greenville, Ill., and Joe Reynolds, Mt. Vernon; one sister, Mrs. Maud Stadler, Long Beach, Calif.; 11 grandchildren and one great - grandchild.

Services will be Thursday at 1 p.m. in Morgan Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Van Johnson and the Rev. Bob Dycke officiating.

Burial will be in Duck Creek Cemetery.

The name Hong Kong is derived from two Chinese characters variously interpreted as meaning "sweet stream" and "fragrant port." It is one of the world's largest duty-free ports.

Solomon's Reign

King Solomon ruled until he died in 926 B.C. It is not known when he came to the throne, but the Bible uses the round number of 40 years when speaking of the length of his reign.

St. Louis Philharmonic's Kettle Drummer Only 14

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Every once in a while the kettle drummer in the St. Louis Philharmonic lets go with a passage not in the score.

The other musicians in the 95-member orchestra just take it in stride.

After all, the kettle drummer is only 14 and most of the time he treats the score just as seriously as they do.

"Rock is okay," says the young percussionist, Alan Schilling, "but I like symphonies better."

Alan, who has been drumming since he was 4, was only 12 when he made it to the Philharmonic.

"The boy is great," said Max Risch, the Philharmonic's personnel manager. "A first class musician. His talent ranks with the upper core of the orchestra. He's got a good attitude and is very disciplined."

But Alan says he likes to "let go" occasionally in practice and "If they don't say anything, or just kind of laugh, then I know it's okay to play it in a performance."

Alan has been taking drum lessons from the best St. Louis professionals for about seven years and also plays and studies piano.

The main thing, he says, is to "give it more - make it sound better."

Alan still remembers what someone told him when he first wanted to play a musical instrument as a tyke. "You're too little to play a piano. Go home and eat a few loaves of bread and get a little bigger."

In the third grade he joined the St. Peter's Cathedral Grade School Band.

"The others didn't like me because even though I was little I could play as well as they could," he said. "But eventually we made friends."

Alan is urged on by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Schilling, of Belleville, Ill., both non-musical.

Mrs. Schilling was proudest, she says, when, on a spring morning three years ago, the Cathedral Band marched down a Belleville street to a cadence Alan composed.

Alan played for a time with the Belleville Junior Philharmonic and when an opening came up in the St. Louis Philharmonic he was recommended by his teacher.

He now talks hopefully of starting a large dance band reminiscent of bygone days "with six trumpets." Or maybe he'll settle for playing with the bigger orchestra, "like the Boston Symphony."

Cattle Feed Short in Bootheel

JEFFERSON CITY – Recent heavy snows and persistent subfreezing temperatures have placed many South Missouri cattlemen in urgent need of feed, according to an announcement made today by Glen Peterson, assistant director of Marketing, Missouri Department of Agriculture.

The drought that swept the area last summer severely limited the usually plentiful winter fescue pastures, as well as the modest hay reserves normally put up for bad weather feeding, Peterson says.

Reports from cattlemen indicate that the feed problem is most pressing among dairy producers in the West Plains area of Howell County. Virtually no local hay is available there

Frankly Speaking

THOMAS F. EAGLETON

U.S. Senator—Missouri

EDUCATION AND FISCAL RESPONSIBILITY

When Congress reconvenes January 19, one of the first struggles will be the $19.7 billion labor- education appropriations bill, which was held up over the Christmas holidays because of President Nixon's threat to veto it.

Last week the President said the bill, if passed in its present form, definitely would be vetoed. He thinks it could be inflationary.

In my view, the President's intention cuts right to the heart of the chief emerging issue of the 1970s -- national priorities, what they ought to be and how much we should spend to obtain them.

Congress Cuts Spending

In 1969 Congress gave the tax relief to the average taxpayer and cut defense spending. It did decide to give more money than the President wanted to a few domestic programs. and therein lies the difference between the President's view of what the United States needs first and the Congress' view.

Congress showed its concern for the nation's children, the nation's poor, the nation's hungry, the nation's senior citizens and the average man whose income is being eaten alive by inflation and high taxes.

The President is worried about inflation.

So is Congress.

Well, who did the most to combat inflation in 1969?

Rhetoric aside, the record is clear: Of the 14 major appropriations bills passed in 1969, 10 were cut by Congress below the amounts requested by the President.

Congress demonstrated its concern about inflation and one of its primary causes -- government spending-- by cutting spendg $7.5 billion below the amount President Nixon sought.

The chief area in which Congress wanted to spend more than the President's budget was in health and education -- $1.1 billion more. Congress also added $.8 billion to other programs.

The end result was this: While the President was talking about fighting inflation, Congress was acting by cutting his budget requests by a net amount of $5.6 billion, most of this in needless and wasteful defense spending -- the most dramatic anti- inflationary move of 1969.

The Education Bill

Even though Congress lopped off $5.6 billion beyond what the President himself thought was necessary to fight inflation, he still objects to the increases voted by Congress for health and education.

What items does he object to?

According to Administration officials, they are these:

$104.4 million for Hill-Burton hospital construction grants.

$23 million for health library facilities.

$297 million for elementary and secondary education aid.

$48 million for educational instructional equipment.

$398 million for impacted school aid.

$33 million for higher education.

$192.5 million for vocational education.

About $35 million for general library aid.

How can he object to these? Especially in light of the cuts in government spending Congress has already voted, cuts far beyond what he thought was needed?

Frankly, I don't know.

But, obviously, his priorities are not those of Congress. And in this instance, they aren't mine either.

If he does veto the bill, I will vote to override the veto and I am hopeful that is the way the entire Congress will vote. I firmly believe that health and education - already inadequately funded -- cannot afford to be cut back one red cent.

Gas Service Cut for Schools, Industries

DEXTER — A curtailment of natural gas service, brought about by the cold weather and what Missouri Utility Company personnel termed a "limited" supply of gas, caused the clouding of public schools in Dexter, Bloomfield and Essex for a day and a half this week and the partial curtailment of industrial activity.

Conditions were returned to normal in the schools by Thursday morning.

The cutback was ordered by the Missouri Utilities Company among large users of natural gas--customers who have signed what is termed an "interruptable contract" which provides a lower rate for natural gas but also provides that service can be interrupted when it is felt necessary. Nearly all large users of natural gas are required to sign such a contract, a company spokesman pointed out.

The curtainment of gas service was done "so that an adequate supply of gas can be assured for homes in the area," a company spokesman in Cape Girardeau said.

The curtailment effected the communities of Dexter, Bloomfield and Essex. Schools were closed at Dexter, Bloomfield and in the Richland School District (Essex).

In addition, the Elder Manufacturing Company plant in Bloomfield was closed a half-day Tuesday, and all day Wednesday and Thursday. Plans were formulated to open the plant Friday. it was learned.

At the Elder Manufacturing Company plant in Dexter, however, a standby heating system is available, and when the order for curtailment of gas service came through the plant was "switched" to its oil heat facility. Operations were normal, a company spokesman said.

At the Fram plant in Dexter operations were near normal, since the plant switched to a stand- by fuel system.

The main effect of the curtailment seemed to be in those communities which are served by Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation-- the supplier of natural gas for some of the towns in the Southeast Missouri area served by Missouri Utilities Company. These communities include Dexter, Bloomfield and Essex, and in all these communities the schools and industries were ordered to curtail the natural gas consumption. Other school systems in the county were open, but in these towns, served by Missouri Utilities Company, the natural gas s purchased from another supplier. At Bell City, Bernie, Puxico and Advance, the schools were open, it was reported.

At present 103 chemical elements are known to man, with those from 93 to 103 having been created by man.

Yeilding Pleads Innocent

KENNETT - James Yeilding of Kennett entered an innocent plea in Dunklin county circuit court Friday to a first degree murder charge in connection with the shooting death of J. F. Sharley of Campbell here in early December.

Yeilding, appearing with his attorneys, heard Circuit Judge William H. Billings set March 24 as the trial date. Prosecuting Attorney Franklin D. Holder represented the state. Yeilding was one of eight persons arraigned in criminal action.

U.S. Cash for Cape Park

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. — A $25,000 matching grant to construct a water system in Trail of Tears State Park, 14 miles south of Cape Girardeau, was announced Monday.

The funds are being provided by the Bureau of Recreation of the Department of the Interior. A well, pumping house and water lines will be constructed.

The announcement was made by Missouri Senators Stuart Symington and Thomas Eagleton and Representative Bill Burlison of Cape Girardeau.

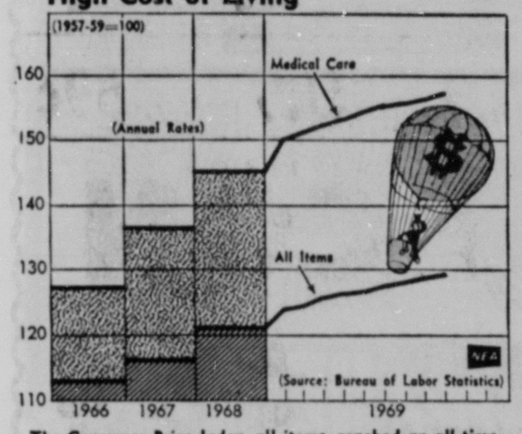
High Cost of Living



The Consumer Price Index, all items, reached an all-time high of 129.3 at the end of the year's third quarter. This means the Consumer family was paying 29.3 per cent more—129.30—for what $100 purchased during the base period, 1957-59, with averages for those years taken as 100. Medical care, represented in the total index, is graphed separately to show its dramatic rise.

SYMINGTON REPORTS CRIME BILL DUE FOR SENATE ACTION

WASHINGTON, D.C. When the Congress re-convenes this year, a number of measures will be considered including the organized crime control bill which is pending on the Senate calendar. This measure, which originated in the Senate, is the result of many months of detailed study and hearings and includes the recommendations of the Congress and the Administration. Improvements proposed by this bill could greatly assist Federal, state, and local efforts to eliminate the undercurrent of oranized crime in America.

NEW PROCEDURES NEEDED. In an effort to help improve the way in which Federal funds are appropriated, I am co-sponsoring legislation to modernize the procedures by which Congress considers appropriation bills.

In the past, the President has presented his budget to the Congress in January or February for programs to begin July 1 in the same year. Between he time the budget is received and summer, Congress must hold extensive hearings to review each item under each Federal agency. Often, this process of hearings and review takes more than the few months alloted and appropriations legislation is not passed until the fall.

Whenever there is a change in Administrations, such as ocurred in 1969, there is often a long delay before the new Administration informs the Congress as to its proposed budget. In such cases, the appropriations process may be extended several months past July 1 and many programs must be set aside until Congressional action is complete.

ELIMINATE DELAYS. To eliminate many of these delays in the future, the bill I am co-sponsoring would make the Federal government's year begin January 1, rather than July 1. It would also create two separate sessions of Congress each year, the first for consideration of authorization bills and the second for consideration of appropriation bills.

Through this measure and through improvements on he part of the executive branch it is hoped that delays with respect to Federal appropriations will be eliminated.

1969 SESSION. During the 1969 session of Congress, the Senate passed 684 measures include 277 bills originating in the Senate and 156 originating in the House. By the time the session closed, a total of 3,825 bills and resolutions had been introduced in the Senate while 17,728 had been introduced in the House. Consideration of many of these measures will continue in the 1970 session, including 19 in the Senate and 48 in the House which have been reported by the various committees, but on which action has not been completed.

A full report on the work of the 1969 session of the 91st Congress is available and if you would like a copy, please let me know: Senator Stuart Symington, 229 Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510.

Q—In the jargon of the Apollo 10 astronauts, what do the terms "Charlie Brown" and "Snoopy" denote?

A—Charlie Brown is the radio call for the command module when the lunar module, or LEM, is manned. Snoopy is the call name for LEM when it is manned.

Q—How many U.S. presidents had no children?

A—Six of the 36.

DR. EDWARD C. SCHEU, chiropractor, attended the 1970 Annual Congress of the International Pain Control Institute in Kansas City last weekend. The Congress was concerned with treatment and prevention of injuries.

New Flour Mill for New Madrid

50 years ago
January 14, 1920

New Madrid is to have a new flour mill. Lumber is on the ground for the building and its erection will soon be started. E. E. Reeves and Henry C. Broughton of that city will build and operate the mill. It will do custom grinding.

The street car service at Cape Girardeau has been growing from bad to worse for a long time. The four serviceable cars have now dwindled down to two and they are expected to be adandoned at any time.

The first basketball game of the season for Sikeston High School will be played here Friday when the local high school team will meet the Malden High School team. The local team will be handicapped to a certain extent in this game because of the absence of Ira Lee, center, who is not eligible for the first game. Those who will start include: Capt. Paul Gilbert, center; Lewis Emory Baker and Woolard Baker, forwards; Pleas Malcolm and Craven Watkins, guards. Others who will probably get in the gema are: Fred Allard, center; Reginald Potashnick, forward; and Neil Gilbert, guard.

The girls of the local high school will play a practice game with the Morehouse team. Miss Irvina Rose, is coach and this is the first year for the girls to play. The girls' team will be selected from the following: Jumping center, Mildred Bowman; side center, Mary Blanton and Kathryn Jewell; forwards, Ruth Dewitt, Catherine Blanton and Cozette Stone; guards, Arietta York, Marguerite Atkinson and Rosa Moser.

Matthews -- Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lumsden returned Sunday from Murray, Ky., where they have been the past two months visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Overby.

Flames fanned by a strong northwest wind early Sunday destroyed 16 tourist cabins and menaced the Cotton Club at the south edge of the city, driving out 30 guests into the cold and causing a loss estimated at $9,000.

Announcement was made Friday night of the approaching marriage of Miss Freda Lankford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lankford, to Lewis Conley, son of Mrs. John Carraway, which will take place on February 4 at the First Baptist Church.

Charles Edgar Robbs, 51, prominent New Madrid County farmer, died Friday afternoon at the Baptist Hospital in Memphis.

Authorization has been received from the First Assistant Postmaster General, Washington, D. C., for city delivery service to the Clayton Addition, Postmaster Pleas Malcolm said today.

Miss Mary Ann Hitchcock was installed as Honored Queen of Job's Daughters at the meeting of the organization Saturday evening at the Odd Fellows Hall.

Mrs. W. B. Smith of Vanduser, who observed her 81st birthday Saturday, was guest of honor Sunday at a dinner given by her daughter, Mrs. Ethel Armstrong, and her grandson and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Armstrong at the latter's home.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nevele Pride, a 4-year-old trotter, was named Harness Horse of the Year for 1969 by the U. S. Harness Writers Association. It was the third straight year the honors went to the Nevele Acres trotter.

Nevele Pride earned $871,738 in his three years of racing and has been retired to stud at Lexington, Ky.

If You Were the Judge

Counterfeit Cuban Currency Outlawed

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Pedro was caught with his pesos down. A couple of FBI agents grabbed him with a bundle of counterfeit Cuban money that he was about to unload by plane over Cuba. His intention, he explained, was to float down the fake money and thus disrupt Castro's monetary system by the confusion created by the bogus bills.

Regardless of Pedro's intentions, however, he was nevertheless arrested and charged with possessing currency plates of a foreign country without that country's permission.

"I had the permission of the Cuban government in exile," was Pedro's defense, "and that was good enough for me. It should be good enough for you, too, particularly since Castro isn't convertible."

"That may be so," conceded the prosecuting attorney, "but the law's still the law. The law does not permit the counterfeiting of foreign currency in the United States. While Pedro may be a patriot," concluded the prosecuting attorney, "he's a guilty one."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you send Pedro to the lockup?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that whether or not the present Cuban government is approved of or not, it is still the recognized government of Cuba and is the only government that can give authority for the printing of money.

Sanitation Important to Pecan Trees

CARUTHERSVILLE — Insect and disease problems are encouraged by poor sanitation in the pecan orchard according to W. F. James Area agriculture extension agent.

All leaves old hulls and branches need to be removed from under the trees. They are the breeding ground for the diseases and insects that serve to carry them through the winter, James says.

In the larger pecan orchards the twigs and branches are removed and burned, then the ground is cultivated to bury leaves and hulls. Where there are only a few trees around the home, clean raking and burning the leaves, hulls and branches will help.

Obscure scale, as it's name implies, is hardly noticable on your pecan tree, yet it is a very serious pest. This tiny sucking insect is covered with a circular scale - like substance, usually gray in color, similar to color of the bark. It attacks the branches and trunk of the tree by sucking the sap. The greatest injury comes from the gradual killing of branches less than 3 inches in diameter.

To control obscure scale a dormant oil spray should be applied on a mild nonfreezing day in February. All branches of the tree need to be wet with the oil spray. An orchard type sprayer that can develop up to 500 pounds pressure is needed for large pecan trees. Controls for other pecan insects and diseases will be discussed in a news release ahead of the time they need to be applied.

The Prayer
from The Upper Room

Let your light shine before men; that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father who is in heaven. (Matthew 5:16, ASV)

PRAYER: Our Father, lead us to realize, acknowledge, and accept life and its blessings as gifts from Thee. Inspire and motivate us to live and serve, leading others to Thy way and purpose. In Jesus name. Amen.

Recreation Association Will Elect

EAST PRAIRIE - The Mississippi County Recreation Association will hold its annual meeting in the high school auditorium on Jan. 29, at 7:30 p.m.

Officers to be elected are president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, corresponding secretary, and two members of the board of directors.

A nominating committee will present a slate of officers.

L. D. Davis is chairman of the nominating committee.

Dr. James Whitley, Jefferson City, chief, water quality branch of the Missouri Conservation Commission, will present the program. He is an authority on pollution problems.

The public is invited to attend.

While Alaskans have no fruit and vegetable markets, retail bakeries or antique stores and only six department stores, one cigar store and one newstand to boost their economy, they do have 254 bars, night clubs and saloons to boost their morale. According to Dun's Market Identifiers, Dun & Bradstreet's marketing service, drinking and eating places constitute the major portion (24.3 percent) of Alaska's 2,194 retail establishments.

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 14, the 14th day of 1970. There are 351 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1784, the United States ratified a peace treaty with England, formally ending the American Revolution.

On this date:

In 1809, England and Spain formed an alliance against Napoleon Bonaparte.

In 1814, Denmark ceded Norway to Sweden.

In 1875, the medical missionary, the late Albert Schweitzer was born.

In 1914, Henry Ford started the first auto assembly line.

In 1943, President Franklin D. Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill began a wartime conference in Morocco.

In 1953, the Parliament in Yugoslavia elected Premier Tito president. Only one vote was cast against him.

Ten years ago — Moves toward setting up a new Western trade group that would include European nations and the United States and Canada were approved at a meeting in Paris.

Five years ago — The prime ministers of Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic met for the first time since Ireland was partitioned.

One year ago — The U.S. aircraft carrier Enterprise was ripped by explosions. At least 17 lives were lost.

Birth Control Researcher Tells of Strong Reason to Believe Pill Can Cause Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A birth control researcher told Senate investigators today there is strong reason to believe The Pill can cause cancer.

"Breast cancers have been induced in at least five different species of animals by treatment with the same synthetic hormones being marketed in the oral contraceptives," said Dr. Hugh Davis of the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine.

Davis told the monopoly subcommittee of the Senate Small Business Committee in prepared testimony that every agent which has been shown to cause cancer in humans also has been shown to cause it in animals.

"There is no reason to presume," he said, "That the single exception ... will turn out to be oral contraceptives."

There is even less reason for such a presumption, Davis added, since the same compounds have been shown to produce breast cancer in males.

Calling this a "very rare finding under other circumstances," Davis asked the subcommittee:

"Shall we have millions of women on the pill for 20 years and then discover it was all a great mistake?"

He said no woman should take the pill continuously for more than two years.

Davis was one of four researchers called to testify as the subcommittee, chaired by Democrat Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, opened five days of hearings into the safety of the pill, now used by 8.5 million women in this country and an estimated 10 million abroad.

The hearings, two days this week and three next, are the first by Congress on the safety of the pill, which has been linked to everything from headaches to fatal blood clotting.

Most of the 18 witnesses scheduled have been critical of the pill for one reason or another.

Scheduled with Davis today were three researchers who cited possible genetic damage. One reported a study showing a form of synthetic female hormone used in one type of pill had caused cleft palate in mice.

Main purpose of the hearings, as outlined by Nelson, is to determine whether women are being adequately warned of the pill's known and suspected side effects.

Davis said little attempt has been made to either inform or protect women.

Davis also said intrauterine devices have been perfected so that they are now 99 per cent effective in preventing pregnancy in the 94 per cent of women who can use them.

25-Year Term in Slaying

NEW MADRID — James Roston, 32, Catron, was sentenced Tuesday in circuit court to 25 years in the department of corrections. Judge William L. Ragland ordered the sentence after Roston pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of second degree murder.

Roston was charged in connection with the Oct. 11 shooting of J. B. "Booker" Lockhart in Catron. Lockhart died Oct. 13.

Joyce Glass and Stella Ressono were each given six months suspended jail sentence upon their good behavior and payment of court costs. They pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of common assault in connection with a paring knife cutting Sept. 18 of Barbara Richard.

A capias was ordered by Judge Ragland for Arlean Harris and Sherman Harris who failed to appear on forgery charges.

Billy Ralph Greer pleaded guilty to breakng and entering Olivers Grocery at Morehouse September 26. A pre- sentence investigation was ordered by the judge.

Criminal charges were dismissed against Patricia Ann Chessor, charged with two counts of forgery; and against Jimmie Drake, charged with breaking and entering November 30 the Marvin Gross home near Matthews.

Five divorces granted were Darlene Kay King from Lee Roy King. She received custody of a child, $20 a week child support and $200 attorney's fee. Reasonable rights of visitation were granted the defendant.

William Elmer Dunscombe was divorced from Bessie Dunscombe; Betty Jean Hensley was divorced from Ray E. Hensley; Willie Cole Jr. was divorced from Estella Cole, also known as Estella Dancler; and Florence Gremard was divorced from William Lee Gremard.

Modification of a divorce decree to Peggy Jackson against Teddy Lee Jackson granted her $35 a month for child support.

Judgements awarded in civil suits included $2,408.43 to Pemiscot Oil Co. against W. C. Cox; $1,114.31 to E. C. Barton and Co. against J. L. Bugg Jr. and Jeanette Bugg; $497.73 to Missouri Farmers Association Inc. against Orell Harris doing business as M and O Construction Co.; $478 to Pemiscot Oil Co. against A. A. Miller; $471.82 to Missouri Farmers Association Inc. against E. L. Jones; and $268.86 to Missouri Farmers Association Inc. against Luther House.

A writ of error Coram Nobis filed by Freddie Lee Grant alias Freddie Lee King, who is serving a sentence for forcible rape, was overruled by Judge Ragland.

Vote on Six-Cent Increase in School Levy May Be Necessary, Twitty Says

A vote on wheather to approve a six- cent increse in the R-6 district's $4.18 tax levy may be necessary in order to give teachers a scheduled $100 annual raise in pay, Supt. Lynn Twitty said yesterday.

At a meeting of the board Tuesday it was decided to hold an election March 3 to continue an 18- cent levy for kindergarten schools. This would not increase the $4.18 levy.

Money for teacher raises was to have come from the state this year but this is doubtful since the income tax increase to finance the measure did not go into effect Jan. 1 as scheduled.

Superintendent Twitty said he thought teachers would accept the $100 raise. He said they were expecting larger increases in salary, but with state money not available, it would take a 77- cent increase in the levy to put the complete new pay schedule into effect.

Twitty said to ask voters to approve such a levy would "be whistling in the dark."

The regular school election will be April 7. The terms of board members Bruce Lewis and Bob Mitchell expire.

It is believed Gov. Warren Hearnes will select April 7 as the date to submit the controversial income tax increase to a vote of the people.

There will be a deadline for school board candidates, who must file 35 days prior to the statewide election.

In other action Tuesday, the board decided to review policies on work and services performed by students in the vocational training school.

This resulted from complaints from a number of beauty shops and two private beauty schools which charged the cosmotology course offered by the school were taking students and customers from private businesses.

Students and mothers of students enrolled in the course get the services of the cosmotology course at no cost or at rates below what private businesses charge.

Board Attorney Charles Matthews gave results of a survey he has made.

He concluded that the vocational school cosmotology course was taking customers away from private shops and beauty operators were justified in their complaints.

He added privileges offered to students and parents in the departments of vocational training have been abused and said other vocational departments in the school also compete with private business in some ways.

Students in the electrical course repair television sets. The refrigeration students repairs air conditioners and the automotive department students repair cars and trucks.

Students in the refrigeration course repaired window unit air conditioners at the Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

School officials point out that if students learn vocational trades they must have equipment to work on.

Matthews asked the school system to more closely supervise vocational training to take steps to reduce competition with private business and to appoint boards for each course. The boards would review all aspects of the curriculum and would be composed by private businessmen.

Without these steps, Matthews said, the school may face court action from private businesses, especially the beauty schools.

The board accepted Matthews, report and took the unusual step of recessing the meeting until Feb. 2 when it will continue the study of Matthews' proposals.

Sears Hopes Bluff Site Ready Soon

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The director of the state Board of Training Schools said Tuesday he hoped that as many as 120 inmates from the Boonville Training School for Boys could be transferred by July to a newly-acquired site north of Poplar Bluff.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes signed an agreement by which the U. S. Forest Service will let the state use the 75-acre tract in the Clark National Forest for $25 a year. The Office of Economic Opportunity has turned over to the state vocational training equipment stored there since OEO shut down its own job training operation last June.

The training school director, Wendell E. Sears, said as soon as he saw the announcement of the OEO shutdown at Poplar Bluff "I made my first pitch" to acquire the property for training school purposes.

He said it will ease the crowding at Boonville where 465 boys are being housed now although the facilities are designed for not more than 370. It would also broaden substantially the training school's opportunities to provide academic and vocational training.

Squabble Over Biafra Aid to Appears to Be Settled

LAGOS (AP) — A squabble between Nigerian organizations over directing aid for Biafra appeared today to have been settled, but there was no green light yet for foreign governments waiting to send massive shipments of food, medicine and supplies to the war zone.

Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, the Nigerian head of state, rejected help from Joint Church Aid and other private agencies which flew mercy shipments to Biafra during the civil war.

The relief program was reported stymied by a dispute over its control between the government-affiliated National Commission for Rehabilitation and the Nigerian Red Cross. But the head of the rehabilitation commission, Timothy Omobare, said today that the commission "is in charge of determining priority of emergency relief operations, while the Red Cross is in charge of emergency operations."

"We don't trouble them at all," he added. "The decree sharing our responsibility is very clear. All we need ... now is to get to the field and meet the needy masses and not sit down in Lagos quarreling."

A defense department spokesman said the government had not cleared a relief airlift from Britain because the government had no official information.

"All we know is what we hear on the radio," he said.

Other Nigerian officials said the government has all the food it needs, but the problem is getting it to those needing it. They said all efforts must be channeled through agencies approved by the government.

Persons returning from the war zone said Biafran troops were surrendering without difficulty and refugees were pouring out. They said there were 2,000 prisoners of war at Ikot, Ekpene and Port Harcourt, and that they saw no signs of mistreatment of Biafran troops or civilians.

The Red Cross said there were 13,000 tons of food on hand, and that another 10,000 tons would be available within days.

In London, Prime Minsiter Harold Wilson announced that Britain would give Nigeria $12 million for relief work in Biafra. The Lagos government temporarily banned British military planes from flying into its territory, but it earlier had notified Britain it would accept emergency supplies flown in by civilian aircraft.

U.S. Undersecretary of State Elliot L. Richardson said in Washington that the United States has put $2 million at the disposal of the Nigerian Red Cross and has informed the United Nations Children's Fund that it has 48 trucks ready to be airlifted to Nigeria.

17 Fines Levied In Magistrate Court

NEW MADRID — Seventeen fines were levied on misdemeanor charges in magistrate court by Judge Leo Hedgepeth.

Fined for careless and imprudent driving were Don William Apperson, wrong side of road, $30; Larry Neal Erwin, failure to yield right- of- way, $15; Janet Sue Gray, failure to stop at stop sign, $15; Louie M. LaFerney, failure to yield right- of- way, $25; Henry W. Kaiser, failure to exercise highest degree of care, $35; Addie Alline Stokes, failure to yield right- of- way, $35; and George Martin Holland, failure to exercise highest degree of care, $20.

Henry Dean Dark forfeited $35 bond on a charge of careless and imprudent driving, passing at an intersection.

Ernest George Brown charged with driving while intoxicated and having no operator license was assessed $125 fine.

Speeding charges brought fines against Ernest Walter Watkins and Miluse Misurec, $35, each; James E. Mason, $30 and George Ed Qualls, $25.

Coy Dewey Williams paid $20 fine on charges of having no operator license and improper registration.

Judge Hedgepeth assessed $15 fines each against James Earnest Leathes Jr., improper parking; L. T. Strickland, no operator license; W. D. Simmon, no vehicle license; and George Ronald Stringer, improper registration.

Judgments in civil suits were awarded Liberty Loan Corporation, $127.81 against J. W. Tucker; and $54.62 judgment to Junior Trail against Ferrell Bost.

Service was returned non est, unable to locate in the county in a civil suit filed by MFA Oil Company against Artina Rush.

Nixon Orders Substantial New Cuts in Forthcoming Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has ordered further substantial last-minute cuts in his forthcoming budget — perhaps in an effort to avoid seeking major new taxes from Congress in 1970.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said today that Nixon informed his Cabinet at a three-hour session Tuesday that "substantial additional economies should be made" beyond what earlier had been regarded as the final budget levels for the 1971 fiscal year that begins July 1.

Ziegler acknowledged that the eleventh hour budget revisions could delay until early February presentation of the new federal spending blueprint.

Asked if the President ordered the new cuts in an effort to avoid seeking new tax revenues from Congress, Ziegler said that the budget could be balanced either by cutting spending or raising taxes—or some combination of the two. He said he could not speculate on which course Nixon would take.

However, he acknowledged that the budget, as it stood before Nixon's new order, already showed a surplus.

To some, that suggested the chief executive had decided that further reductions in federal outlays would be politically more palatable in an election year than requests for more taxes.

Administration sources estimate the budget message will call for a spending total of around $202 billion to $203 billion.

When asked if Nixon might make an effort to cut the fiscal 1971 spending total below the current level, Ziegler said the President "is not going to be involved in gimmickry."

He would not say, however, if Nixon now plans a budget below $200 billion.

News Briefs

Israel Raps French Arms Deal

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel accused France today of trying to cover up its arms deal with Libya and said the French have joined the Russians in upsetting the power balance in the Middle East.

Foreign Minister Abba Eban told the "parliament—that France's Mideast policy was "absolutely one-sided and without any equality, justice or truth."

Eban spoke in response to several parliamentary motions condemning the projected French sale of 50 Mirage jets to Libya.

Israeli officials already have expressed concern that the warplanes supplied to Libya will be made available to Egypt for use in hostilities against Israel.

Freedom Sought for Stout

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Jerry Lynn Stout asked the Missouri Supreme Court Tuesday to free him of a charge of murder in the beating death of Mrs. Judith Ann Frieders of Columbia, Mo., July 18, 1968.

Stout's attorney, Everett S. VanMatre, filed a habeas corpus petition declaring that Stout had been refused bail Jan. 9 by Circuit Judge John M. Cave.

Stout also faces a charge of assault with intent to kill in the severe beating given Mrs. Frieders' husband, Garry Allan Frieders. At the time Frieders was attending the University of Missouri on an athletic scholarship.

The petition to the Supreme Court said Stout had been "held to excessive bail on one charge and denied bail altogether on the other charge." Bail in the assault case was set earlier at $50,000.

Truck Registrations Extended

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The state Division of Motor Vehicles, acting on an executive order from Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, has extended the time for truck and trailer operators to get their vehicles inspected and licensed to Feb. 28.

Harry Smith, motor vehicle supervisor, said today the extension beyond the statutory Jan. 15 deadline had not been announced earlier because of the fear truck owners would delay action unnecssarily. He said registrations "have been coming in pretty good" because owners were trying to meet the Jan. 15 deadline.

Last year the legislature tried unsuccessfully to set up a staggered system of registration for trucks and trailers, just as is done now on passenger cars. He said owners of the state's 500,000 trucks have a hard time getting their vehicles inspected and registered under the present limits.

Wardell Man Injured in Fall from Truck

Three highway accidents caused injury to four, the most serious is a man who fell out of truck.

Kelly Tipler, 65, Wardell, is in the Pemiscot County Memorial hospital in Hayti following a fall Tuesday afternoon on route B, south of Wardell.

Tipler fell out of a moving truck. He suffered a fractured skull and broken right leg.

He was unable to give authorities the name of the driver or tell how the accident occurred.

A Bollinger county accident Tuesday at 6 p.m. in Scopus, injured two.

A 1969 Ford pickup truck, driven by John Cook, 40, Marble Hill, pulled from a stop sign into the path of a 1969 Mustang, driven by Raymond Webb, 21, Scopus, the state patrol said.

Cook received a possible neck injury, and a passenger in the Webb car, Tonie Ivey, 15, Marble Hill, was scratched on her forehead and face. Both were treated at Southeast Missouri hospital in Cape Girardeau and released.

A one- car accident Tuesday at 2:25 p.m. on highway 60, one and one- half miles east of Doniphan sent Alvin Hamilton. 43, Doniphan, to the Ripley County Memorial hospital in Doniphan, where he was treated for cuts on his face and legs.

He was driving a 1968 Oldsmobile when he lost control, ran off the road and struck a concrete culvert.

Orán Man Says He Was Stabbed

Jim Stacey, Oran, reported to police last night he was stabbed three times in the left side as he walked toward the Wagon Wheel tavern on West Malone.

Stacey did not know who stabbed him, officers said. Robbery was not the motive.

A friend of Stacey's took him to the Missouri Delta Community Hospital for treatment.

Carbon Monoxide in Cigarettes Called Heart Disease Hazard

NEW YORK (AP) — Swedish scientists said today that carbon monoxide from cigarette smoke is "very likely" part of the reason smokers develop more coronary heart disease.

If this is so, they said, it means that scientists concerned about preventive medicine will have to take a look at all forms of exposure of people to carbon monoxide, such as automobile exhaust.

The carbon monoxide from cigarette smoke gets into the bloodstream, the scientists said, where it appears to pave the way for the accumulation of cholesterol in the arteries.

An excess of cholesterol is one factor that has been implicated in the incidence of heart disease. Deposits of the fatty substance clog the arteries, preventing normal flow of blood and oxygen.

The new report came from Drs. Poul Astrup, Knud Kjeldsen and John Wanstrup of the department of clinical chemistry at the Royal Hospital in Copenhagen. Dr. Astrup described work on rabbits and studies of humans at a conference on biological effects of carbon monoxide sponsored by the New York Academy of Sciences.

Dr. Astrup said his department noticed high concentrations of carbon monoxide in the blood of young men with coronary artery diseases.

Carbon monoxide, a poisonous gas released by combustion, combines with hemoglobin in the blood, displacing vital oxygen.

About 10 per cent of the smokers they studied, Dr. Astrup said, had unusually high levels of a compound formed by the carbon monoxide and hemoglobin-a compound called carboxylhemoglobin. The levels reached 10 to 20 per cent.

The high levels were linked to individual smoking habits, such as depth and duration of inhalation.

To check their observations, Dr. Astrup said that in one series of experiments, two groups of rabbits were fed cholesterol, but only one group was also exposed to carbon monoxide.

The accumulation of cholesterol in the arterial walls of rabbits exposed to carbon monoxide was three to five times as much as in those given only cholesterol, Dr. Astrup said. In tests on rabbits who were not given any cholesterol, the carbon monoxide produced damage in the walls of the arteries.

No Proof of Drugs on Sikeston High School Property

By CHARLES BRADY

The use and abuse of marijuana, drugs, and narcotics in Missouri and across the nation has caused health officials on federal and state levels to develop and increase programs to fight the problem.

The indiscriminate use of drugs has reached every field of business and received national attention last fall when entertainer Art Linkletter's 20- year - old daughter took drugs and leaped to her death from a building.

Linkletter attended a briefing on President Nixon's proposals dealing with the problem and urged that an educational program be aimed at parents and youngsters starting in the primary grades.

This two- part series will deal with the problems in Sikeston and the surrounding area in association primarily among high school and college students. The first part of this series will deal with the drug problem in Missouri and the school system of Sikeston and what it is doing to combat it.

Dr. Ray Knowles, Jefferson City director of the drug and narcotics abuse section of the Missouri division of health, states that "marijuana use is widespread in high schools and colleges in Missouri" and that "concern is growing that marijuana users will also graduate to use purer forms of its potent principal, hashish."

Knowles has said that one of the most alarming aspects of the drug situation in this state is the lack of discrimination with which young drug abusers approach pharmacologic agents. Too many youths in the state are too casual in "validating the true nature of drugs offered them," he said.

Knowles also stated that drug abusers on college campuses have added to the abolishment of the urban- outstate idea since colleges bring together students from all parts of the state and other states. Drugs are thus brought from college centers to outstate areas and there have been repeated cases in which this has led to exposure of high school age youths.

Alton Blakeslee, an Associated Press science writer, reports at high schools and colleges, arrests for possession of marijuana and other drugs are increasing."

A psychologist added that "any drug education which is not scrupulously honest will fail with the kids. Once you exaggerate, you lose them."

Simple possession of marijuana is a felony punishable by jail terms of two to 10 years or more.

Roger Sherman, principal of Sikeston high school, said.

"To my knowledge, there is no proof of drugs on this campus. There are always rumors, of course, but nothing to substantiate them. We have checked a few lockers in the past but have never found anything."

Sherman outlined what the school system is doing.

He said that in March of 1969 the air force had a group on campus that presented a film on LSD usage and that the navy also showed a film on drug abuse.

Sherman said that Sgt. Dan Harmon of the Cape Girardeau highway patrol presented a program to a Parent- Teacher Association meeting last October dealing with drugs.

Sherman said that on Jan. 21 an executive meeting will be held in Sikeston to make plans on a workshop for teachers in a three- county area. Sherman said "it will be an educational program concerning drug usage, identification, and abuse. There will be a team out of Farmington to present this."

He added that the committee setting up the workshop will be headed by Chet Masterson.

Sherman also said that assemblies are held occasionally dealing with drugs. He said that films were shown to groups rather than to the whole student body at one time to get better results.

An anonymous questionnaire was given to some college students who are or were taking drugs. A few comments:

"I could lose all my worries and imagine many things."

"They are our only means of feeling love (in the general, perhaps Christian sense) in this debacle of self- destruction."

"I have stopped taking drugs... It became too easy to 'groove' on something... without ever coming to terms with real problems, without really thinking."

"I consider it now a part of the growing up process. It was an answer. It no longer is."

A Sikeston physician noted a few signs of drug taking but said that the signs could have been induced by normal illness.

These signs are: a break in the normal pattern of a person's life; in the early stages of using marijuana, the person may be stimulated and very animated, or behave in a silly fashion. Later, he may seem sleepy or stuporous, barbiturates (goofballs) may make a person appear drunk, but with no odor of alcohol on his breath; and the person drugged on heroin usually appears sleepy and lethargic, or even very intoxicated. Pupils of the eye may be constricted, not responding to light.

A controversial issue is whether marijuana should be legalized.

A random poll of 15 Sikeston residents produced these results: legal marijuana, 2; illegal marijuana, 8; and five said that they knew nothing about the drug.

A few comments:

"I don't know that much about drugs to say one way or the other."

"I think it should remain illegal because it leads to more harmful drugs."

"I see no harm in it. It's not habit forming."

"I think the penalty should be reduced for having marijuana but I still don't think it should be legal."

The second of this series will be presented next week. It will deal with high schools and other organizations and their role in controlling drug use and abuse.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

We wonder if OEO Director Donald Rumsfield would of overriden Governor Hearnes veto, of the 2.3 million antipoverty funds if he had of been a Republican governor.

The governor was right in his veto.

County Chief Roos was right in his withdrawal of funds.

The United fund of St. Louis was right in its veto of help for the Legal Aid society.

The Great Society - minded Department of Health, Education and Welfare has lifted requirements for anyone needing welfare. On Nov. 20, HEW told the 50 states they would have to grant welfare aid to any applicant who says he needs it. The HEW order said there should be no investigation of "eligibility." The move smacked of "The Trap" tactic, because the incoming administration would have to make a ruling as to whether to continue the relaxation of welfare requirements. The Washington Star noted that 40 percent of all welfare recipients in the District of Columbia had been found by social workers "to be ineligible."

The news of the death of Superintendent Rov V. Ellise brings sadness to the heart of the editor.

Prof. Ellise when he was in charge of the Sikeston Schools brought to Sikeston the editors wife of thirty eight years, Katherine Smith. We shall always hold in our heart a big place for the Ellise family.

When we were in Florida four years ago we had the pleasure of visiting with the Ellises. At that time Mr. Ellise was showing what age will and can do to a person.

His death will place in the hearts of many Sikeston folks a touch of sadness.

MILITARY DISSENT VS. AUTHORITY

According to an Associated Press news item, an "anti-war" group on the Strategic Air Command (Barksdale Air Force) Base in Louisiana is upset because certain of their numbers have lost stripes, been transferred and/or investigated. We fail to find any reason for their objections. It is the duty of the military to defend "the national security". That means us: we the people. And anyone who has any knowledge of the extremist leadership of some of the "anti-war" groups can readily understand the reason for concern when that element invades our vital protective networks, such as the SAC.

Americans do not challenge the right to dissent. But few people can challenge the fact that the military is not a valid place for that dissent. There are many examples throughout history of takeovers of the military by radical elements. The records show that these takeovers invariably lead to the overthrow of the civilian government. One need look to our Latin American neighbors for proof of this.

In the United States, the military is subject to control by the civil government with the President of the United States as the Commander - in - Chief. This chain of command requires obedience to authority. Therefore there must be strict discipline in effect at all times. Demonstrations outside of military bases is one thing; demonstrations inside the military is another matter. And GI participation in protest movements, on or off base, is something to be viewed with all due concern.

General Douglas MacArthur challenged the authority of President Truman during the Korean - UNDECLARED - War. And for this action he was summarily removed, despite the overwhelming support of the people. Should the current handful of dissidents in uniform be considered better than an outstanding military leader who gave so many decades of his life in service to our nation? Is there a different code of conduct for privates than there is for Generals? It is truly remarkable how the left-leaning demonstrators claim all of their "rights", except the right to be held accountable for their acts.

It is time for the rest of us to "launch a protest", on behalf of the thousands who serve and have served in our armed services without question. If there are those (and apparently there are a few) within the military who dislike what the military must do, as its duty, then let us give the disgruntled their freedom and return them to the status as private, self-supporting citizens - with dishonorable discharges.

ALCOHOL AND HIGHWAY SAFETY

If we could eliminate all causes of highway accidents but one, we would still be faced with 50 per cent of the problem -- drinking and driving.

"The drinking driver is the largest single threat to life on the highway today," said Howard Pyle, President of the National Safety Council.

Alcohol acts as an anesthetic on the central nervous system. It is carried by the blood to all parts of the body -- including the brain. Concentration of alcohol in the bloodstream is determined by:

-the amount of alcohol consumed
-the length of time since the drinking began
-the length of time since the last drink
-body weight
-the quantity and kind of food in the stomach at the time of drinking

Alcohol impairs the physical and mental skills necessary to drive an automobile.

The result: more than 25,000 needless deaths in 1968 alone. Alcohol was a factor in half of the 55,200 traffic fatalities during 1968, according to the National Safety Council.

Individual states have become increasingly aware that they must take drastic steps to control the problem of the drinking driver. Most states now require chemical tests to determine the blood - alcohol concentration of persons involved in traffic accidents, and 20 states define the presumptive level of intoxication at 0.10 per cent. Two states have slightly higher presumptive levels. Utah considers a blood - alcohol concentration of 0.08 per cent presumptive evidence of intoxication.

A presumptive level of 0.15 per cent, considered too high in light of recent studies, is still retained by 24 states. An Indiana University study revealed that, when a driver's blood - alcohol concentration reaches 0.15 per cent, the chances of his being involved in a traffic accident are 25 times greater than if his body were essentially free of alcohol. Three states have no presumptive level of intoxication.

"Implied consent" is another important facet of any attempt to reduce highway deaths and injuries involving alcohol. This provision specifies that any person placed under arrest for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol be deemed to have given his consent to a chemical test. If he does not consent, his drivers license is suspended or revoked.

Definition of the presumptive level of intoxication at 0.10 per cent and the "implied consent" provision are both part of the national State Highway Safety Program Standard dealing with Alcohol in Relation to Highway Safety. This standard is one of 16 established by the National Highway Safety Bureau under the Highway Safety Act of 1966. The standards are designed to save lives and reduce injuries by improving accident prevention methods used in state highway safety programs.

NEW TREATMENT FOR SENILITY

It's not the growing old that's so sad; it's the growing dim.

Medical scientists have long believed that an impaired oxygen supply to the brain, caused by hardening of the cerebral arteries, is largely responsible for the progressive decline in mental alertness in elderly people suffering from senility. Up to now, however, there is little that could be done about it..

"Geriatric Focus" reports the encouraging work of a team of investigators from the New York State University School of Medicine with 13 male patients, aged 53 to 76, at the VA hospital in Buffalo.

All of the patients had been hospitalized, some for several years, because of severe deterioration resulting from chronic brain syndrome associated with cerebral arteriosclerosis. All showed marked loss of recent memory and lack of interest in their surroundings and were incapable of self-care.

It was first determined that the men were in good health otherwise. Next they took a battery of psychological tests. Then they were given two 90-minute session a day for 15 days in a hyperbaric (high - pressure) chamber under 2.5 times normal atmospheric pressure. They breathed 100 per cent oxygen by mask.

Within 24 hours after their last session in the chamber, they were again psychologically tested. Significant improvement, ranging from 35 to 300 per cent, was found in their scores.

Clinical results were equally remarkable. The patients became more active, sleep better and showed renewed interest in their surroundings. For example, they began reading newspapers and magazines.

Even more important, they were once again able to care for themselves. A number of them could go home on visits and four were so improved that they were discharged from the hospital and have not required readmission.

The investigators are now conducting studies on the duration of the changes to try to find the falling - off point at which patients need booster treatments.

Hyperbaric treatment of all senile individuals is not feasible, of course. Some simpler method of delivering oxygen to the brain will have to be devised before we can say that this major scourge of old age is defeated.

But now there is hope.

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a vice president gets tired of hearing:

"I'm taking this cup of coffee to the president, Mr. Tiswell. Do you mind if I bring yours in a little later?"

"What does he really do? Well, he seems to be in charge of turning out the lights and burying things under the rug."

"Oh, Mr. Tiswell, won't give you any trouble. All you have to do is be sure to order roses for his wife on her birthday, and be sure to get a new cushion for his swivel chair every three months."

"No, he doesn't come up with many new ideas, but why should he? There's nothing that makes the president of a firm more annoyed than vice presidents with a lot of fresh ideas. He's sure they're after his job. The only safe time to have an idea is before you become a vice president."

"I wouldn't say that Tiswell is an apple polisher, but I've noticed that when the boss comes out to attend the annual office Christmas party, Tiswell is the first to start singing, 'For he's a jolly good fellow.'"

"His biggest decision every day is whether to have a third martini at lunch, and nine out of 10 days he votes yes."

"I'm going to spend next week in Florida, Tiswell, and want you to take charge of the office for me. If anything really important comes up, my secretary will get in touch with me."

"He has been saying yes at the office so long that his wife was able to wheedle a fur coat out of him this year because he had forgotten how to say no."

"His biggest ambition is to be vice president in charge of all the other vice presidents."

"I took the liberty, Mr. Tiswell, of showing some of the doodles you've made during conferences to a friend of mine at the Museum of Modern Art. Now the museum wants to buy several for permanent exhibition."

Some of the most useful and beneficial consumer products are not fully acceptable to the public.

The result may be a loss to consumer and seller alike. For instance, the per capita consumption of milk has not kept pace with increases in population and wealth. Yet milk is one of the best and complete of all foods. It is also relatively cheap.

In such a situation, competing dairies and retailers of milk products are finding it to their mutual advantage to join hands in advertising the advantage of drinking milk. The producers and sellers of other beverages long ago recognized the advantage of a joint advertising effort.

Widespread use of frozen orange juice came from an extensive advertising program which convinced the public that the product was good, healthful and inexpensive.

Similarly the coffee industry was literally salvaged from obliteration by advertising which popularized the coffee break. Beer consumption has been maintained by extensive, long-range advertising.

Milk has always been such a highly regarded food that it never occurred to anyone that a day would come when an affluent generation would have to be re- educated as to its value.

But the best of products may be replaced by inferior goods when public is not stimulated to select high quality on the basis of complete information.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON--A powerful, unpublicized lobby has been working in the backrooms of Congress to let mutual fund operators feed greedily on millions of small investors.

There are five million mutual fund shareholders, many of them salting away a few hundred dollars a year for a child's college or for retirement. Millions more belong to pension funds and investor groups which own mutual securities.

For years, the mutual fund operators have been getting away with outrageous overcharges. By the industry's own dubious figures, investors paid out a shocking $190 million in advisory fees alone during the 1969 fiscal year.

Contract investors, who comprise about 10 per cent of the mutual fund shareholders, often pay 15 to 50 per cent of their investment to the voracious fund hustlers. Mutual funds with reasonable fees have either failed or had a hard time operating, because salesmen openly scorn the lower commissions.

Last year, the securities and exchange commission made a timid attempt to give the poor shareholders a break. It endorsed Legislation that would protect the investors from paying unreasonable fees and permit them to collect refunds for overpayments.

--DOUBLE DEALING--

But the mutual fund lobbyists got busy in the backrooms to out-maneuver the sec. An outraged sec chairman Hamer Budge came close to accusing them of an outright "Double Cross" in their dealings with the commission.

He specifically named the Investment Company Institute and the Association of Mutual Fund Plan sponsors, which represent 90 per cent of the $55 Billion in mutual fund assets in the United States. Their lobbyists, cool and convivial, demonstrated their quiet skill at wheeling and double-dealing.

Here's the backstage story of how they put the screws to the SEC and the small investors:

In the past, the SEC had failed to curtail the Mutual Fund Operators' runaway fees, because of the magic they were able to work on Capitol Hill. But public pressure built up last year for reforms.

The powers in Congress advised the SEC, in effect, to work up legislation that would mollify the public but still be acceptable to the mutual fund operators. Last April, the SEC sat down with the brilliant President of the ICA, Robert Augenblick, to try to reach some agreement.

In long days of talks, the SEC gave up one point after another. But finally, the SEC thought it had an agreement with Augenblick and other industry representatives that they would not block a bill, which would give shareholders a right to sue for fair fees and would make a few other reforms.

Word of the "Agreement" reached the Senate, which assumed that the Securities Industry would would not oppose the weak measure and, therefore, passed it unanimously.

Months passed before house hearings were set for November 12. Two days before the hearings, Augenblick informed a dumbfounded Budge that the Mutual Fund Operators now also wanted a self-regulation clause in the bill. The effect of this would be to nullify the meager reforms.

--BEWILDERED BUDGE--

Budge had been so sure his agreement with the industry was solid that he had mimeographed his testimony and had sent advance copies to the House Committee, telling of the SEC agreement with the Mutual Fund men. Now, he was obliged to summon his aides to the office on November 11, the Veterans Day Holiday, to help him rush out a rewrite.

Later Budge bitterly denounced the Mutual Fund Representatives for welshing on their agreement.

Reached by this column, spokesmen for both the big Mutual Fund Groups denied vehemently and at some length that they were double-crossing the SEC. David Grayson, speaking for the Mutual Fund Plan sponsors, told my associate, Leslie Whitten, that it was all a "misunderstanding."

Explained Augenblick: "With the Passage of time, it seemed that the self-regulation provision was worth having."

Under self-regulation, the Mutual Fund Operators have been charging exorbitant fees and have been growing fat on the payments of their customers. Salesmen have tried to justify the avaracious fees with the claim that they are selling "security." But the sorry performance of the average fund in 1969 belies all talk of "security."

It can be demonstrated statistically that a blindfolded man with a dart and a list of stocks would have done better, in many cases, than did the Mutual Fund Operators.

Meanwhile, the Mutual Fund reforms are languishing in the House Commerce and Finance Subcommittee while the SEC tries to work out another agreement with the glib operators.

Chairman John Moss, D-Calif., is fighting a lone battle inside the subcommittee for the reforms. He is opposed by Representatives Bill Stuckey, D-Ga., G. Robert Watkins, R-Pa., and Fletcher Thompson, R-Ga., who are working behind the scenes with the Mutual Fund men to fleece the small investors.

--POLICE CORRUPTION--

The narcotics underworld in the nation's Capital has succeeded in enlisting two, perhaps three, more policemen. Their cases are on the way to a Federal Grand Jury.

At least once, a police car was used to transport narcotics.

City and Federal officials have refused all comment. However, this column correctly reported on November 26 that several police officers were under investigation. In mid-December, two were arrested for Heroin possession. One was mysteriously murdered, gangland-style, a few days later.

This penetration of Washington police comes at a time when Big-League Mafia figures have stepped into the Heroin traffic in the Capital.

The two or three additional officers involved in drug trafficking are among some 20 whose names were turned into the Metropolitan Police Department's Internal Investigation division. Most of these leads turned out to be false rumors, a precinct-House bad mouthing, and unprovable allegations.

In the new cases, the two or three policement were involved in pay-offs, use of narcotics and actual drug hustling.

Doc. Duncan Says

For years commercialism has did more damage to more people in the U.S. than any other. Inflation, price fixing, monopoly every way one turns - and it seems no one in the drivers seat in the past decade has dared to use the laws on the books that broke the back of the depression in the 1930s. The boys in the drivers seat has the bullets at their command but the boys in the ditch have the ballets to bring our nation back under God and the people from where it came if they will use their head and their ballots in time to avoid a new constitution that maybe cooked up to sweep away any voice of the people, without their consent, refusing to be rocked to sleep in the cradle of partyism, communism or any other ism. Wake up from the sweet dream - world apathy and etc. and face the facts of life. The sands are running law in the hourglass of time. Forget party and live.

What is right is good; what is wrong is bad. It is bad that most human beings on this planet are undernourished and always have been. It is good that during the past 100 years a few people in a small portion of the earth have become concerned about hunger and want to do something about it.

Trying to do something about hunger and maluntrition is good. Using the wrong means can do more harm than the hunger mankind has always lived with. Killing and robbing the creative producers can only increase the hunger and misery among men. Communism is the primitive economic system which spreads the shortages so that no one except the political party masters has enough of anything.

Freedom spreads the opportunity for everyone to have enough of both necessities and luxuries. under Republic USA's system of freedom even the most poverty-stricken here take for granted luxuries beyond the dreams of most of the rest of mankind.

Some cannot achieve affluence under any system but to destroy the opportunities and freedoms of all by making false promises to a few is evil self-destruction. Creative production is no accident. Republic USA has been the most productive society in history because it has the right system.

Improving the system will come from creative thought and work not from violence and destruction. Right is beautiful because it is right. This is the lesson American history will teach us if we are willing to learn. Wrong is bad, as the history of communism teaches all who will open their eyes and see. The fact that right is beautiful can be the beginning of a grand idea if many will add their thoughts. HLH

Rarely has one billionaire faced such formidable legions. He has more enemies than Gama l Abdel Nasser has threats. Leading a united front of virtually all liberals, from surviving veterans of Franklin Roosevelt's day to the remnants of the Kennedys is Mayor John V. Lindsay. The mayor tells me he will not personally run against Nelson Rockefeller and that he will stay on as this city's chief executive for another four years.

He does not want to jeopardize his chances for a national nomination. So he says he will not bolt the Republicans.

But the word is that Gov. Rockefeller must go. Who will run against him? There have been talks with Franklin Roosevelt Jr. "who is considering."

But there also is the 50-year-old tall, thin, bespectacied, high-foreheaded intellectual Robert Morgenthau (which stands for morning dew, he explains.) He wants to run against Mr. Rockefeller. And it is he and only he now who can carry the mantle, the tradition, the affection, the support, the banner of the Kennedys.

To most folks, Mr. Morgenthau is Mr. District Attorney--the man who cracked the power of the five Cosa Nostra families in New York; the man who knows where the bodies are buried; the man who defied Richard Nixon and Attorney General John Mitchell.

But to insiders, Mr. Morgenthau, now nominally one of three New York City deputy mayors, is a much loved and respected member of the Kennedy family itself--not of the power hungry Arthur Schlesinger-Adam Walinsky-Kenneth Galbraith set. Few, for example, are aware that Bob Morgenthau, then U.S. attorney for the New York Southern District was lunching with Bob and Ethel Kennedy on their terrace in McLean, Va. on Nov. 22, 1963. Also at the table was Mr. Morgenthau's anticrime special assistant, Syl Mallo.

Suddenly word came "Mr. Hoover is on the phone." Bob Kennedy crossed the pool grounds, listened, clasped his hand to his mouth, and said nothing.

Then, the Attorney General (Bob Kennedy) returned to the table. "The President has been shot in Dallas," he said tonelessly. "And may be fatal." He turned his back. Ethel Kennedy moved quickly to his side. Then Kennedy rushed into the house and onto the phone. Mr. Morgenthau and Mr. Mallo strode into the TV room to watch what we all watched.

"I did not want to leave," Bob Morgenthau said later. "There were no other men at the house and we did not know if there was a conspiracy and Ethel might be caught up in it. Then Bob walked in and said simply 'he's dead,' and walked out."

Ethel Kennedy never has forgotten those moments. Most of the Kennedys know that if Bob Kennedy ever had become president he intended to name Bob Morgenthau as Director of the FBI.

And the word is that most of the Kennedys now see him as the one man who can pull the New York Democrats together. This would be fine with Mayor John V. Lindsay. And it appears that it would be fine with Republican U.S. Senator Charles Goodell, who also has national visions. The Senator and the Mayor had a two-hour secret session at the rococo City Hall here two weeks ago. Secret is secret. But Gov. Rockefeller's name was not taken in vain. It was clobbered again and again.

The tactic is as simple as the strategy -- keep Robert Morgenthau in the news, get him the Democratic nomination for governor, rally all forces around him as the man of progress, law and order in the streets withjustice, a Bubonic plague for the Mafia, the man who knows where the scandals are in the state, get him endorsed by everybody from John Lindsay to Frank Rosetti, chief of Tammany Hall, and from the elder statesman Arthur Goldberg to the new left, topple Rockefeller, and then take control of the powerful New York State Republican Party. Thus Messrs. Goodell and Lindsay would turn the State GOP into the party's new left and attempt to coalesce similar forces in other states.

All in time for the 1972 national convention. This would be no challenge to President Nixon. But it would leave no doubt in Vice President Agnew's mind whose hot breath is on his neck.

But Gov. Nelson Rockefeller isn't about to play dead for the middle-aged youth now assaulting him. He has some strength in labor circles--though not as much as he once had among the construction trades. He has strength in the civil service. And he is wooing the rank and file with a drive for $1.85 an hour minimum wage.

But he is vulnerable on one front--the Middle East. There is sharp resentment among the powerful needle trade and their allies over the stand taken by his brother David, head of the Chase Manhattan Bank, during a conference with President Nixon late last year. David Rockefeller was among those who urged greater friendship to the Arab lands and the abandoning of Israel's favored position in the White House - which goes back to the days of Harry Truman.

There is enough resentment here, in this most intense and emotional issue, to set back Gov. Rockefeller--especially if the race is between him and Bob Morgenthau.

Thus the national and international crosswinds whip up and down this chilled state. But it is a long way to November. Anything can happen and usually does.

Hostess Feeds Cat At Table And Upsets Guest...Worried About Germs

Dear Ann Landers: Last week my husband and I were invited to dinner in the home of new friends. The main course was fish, which I thought rather odd since not everyone likes fish and it wasn't Friday.

Halfway through the dinner a huge grey striped cat appeared out of nowhere and hopped up on the hostess' lap. Quick as a flash, the cat had his face in the plate and he ate every bit of fish. When he finished, he jumped off the woman's lap and raced out of the room. The hostess appeared unconcerned and she didn't say one word to the cat. I was horrified.

Finally, I couldn't keep quiet another minute. I asked, "Does the cat jump on your lap and eat off your plate very often?" She gave me a look that suggested I was an idiot and replied emphatically, "Any doctor will tell you cats are cleaner than people. The chances of Tabby catching something from ME are much greater than my catching something from him."

I could not respond since I do not have the facts. Do you?--Shocked

Dear Shocked: The bacterial count varies from human to human and cat to cat. One would have to examine both the hostess and Tabby to determine the possibility of one infecting the other.

Although animals do sometimes carry diseases, physicians agree that as a general rule, a healthy human would not get sick from eating off the same plate with a cat or a dog. A guest who is unaccustomed to the sight, however, might become nauseated or suffer a sudden loss of appetite. In my opinion, the practice is extremely unesthetic and I don't recommend it.

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter signed, "Blood is Thicker Than Water." The girl's brother had written his wife asking her to meet him at the airport when he returns from Vietnam. He had requested specifically that she come alone and not bring his parents or any other members of the family. The GI's sister was hurt and his parents were crushed.

My story is a little different, but I hope you will print it.

My husband decided to surprise me when he came home from Vietnam. He wrote his parents and asked them to meet him at the airport but he made them promise not to tell. They agreed. Can you imagine how I felt when I entered his parent's living room and saw the entire family---aunts, uncles, cousins, friends and neighbors---and then Joe walked in! What should have been the happiest experience of my life turned out to be a nightmare. After dreaming of our reunion for months, and counting the days, I had to share that precious moment with a pack of relatives!

I don't think I'll ever get over it. I hope you will print this letter, Ann. It might spare another GI's wife from going thru the same thing.---Last To Know

Dear Last: Your letter is a fine example of how good intentions can go haywire because someone didn't use his head. A husband's homecoming should not be used as a parlor trick.

Thank your lucky stars that he did come home and forget about the rest. About 31,000 American wives would give anything to change places with you.

How will you know when the real thing comes along? Ask Ann Landers. Send for her booklet "Love or Sex And How To Tell The Difference." Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Little misses will love the look of this high-waisted dress (left) with tender, little pleats bound round in rope. The mini buttons and high collar accent. The long-waisted, low-flounce dress (right) is a charmer in more ways than one. It looks well and never needs ironing. Both dresses from Cinderella.

Fashion Trends

LONDON (AP) — Designer Hardy Amies dropped hemlines to mid-calf today at the opening of London's 1970 spring and summer high fashion showings.

But Amies, who makes some of the queen's clothes, was clearly not going to leave himself out on a limb on the hemline issue.

"The designer can only suggest," he noted on the show program. His own suggestion was skirts that just clear the knee for tweeds, with the longer length for softer materials cut on the bias. The only all- the- way- to the- floor maxis he showed were for evening.

The three- piece classic suit made a big comeback and there was more than a hint of Chanel in many of the boxy jackets with four flapped pockets.

Amies colors are navy and white above all, with yellows, gray, green, off white and apricot. There are many three-toned checks and prints, and materials are either roughly textured tweeds or smooth flat gaberdines, jerseys and flannels.

All the mannequins wore their hair in heavy, braided chignons low on the nape of the neck.

The trouser suit marched on in the Amies collection, this time with shorter shirt style jackets, or elongated sleeveless waistcoasts that nearly touched the ankle.

Host to Dignitaries

NEW YORK (AP) — "If this furniture only could talk, how it might break up history," mused interior designer David T. Williams as he scrutinized the results of his latest project, the renovation of the Waldorf Towers' Presidential Suite, often referred to as "The White House in New York."

Since it was opened in 1931, the four-bedroom suite, located on its own private corridor to afford proper security measures, has played host to every U.S. President from Hoover through Nixon. The U.S. State Department has first call on the apartment; consequently the list of visiting dignitaries who have occupied the 35th floor, $350-a-day apartment, reads like a Who's Who in history: Queen Elizabeth II, Harold Macmillan, King Hussein, King Saud, David Ben Gurion, Gen. Charles de Gaulle, Nikita Khrushchev.

"Because in many instances the Presidential Suite is the first American interior to be seen by a foreign notable, I felt it was extremely important to present the American image with as much dignity, elegance, formality and comfort as possible," says the soft-spoken Williams. In keeping with the idea of presenting the American interpretation of gracious living, a "home away from home," mixed English period pieces and American artists are the rule rather than the more elaborate French period furniture and European art masterpieces.

Actually about half the furniture in the refurbished suite is the same as was in the original. Very likely it was moved to a different locale; it may have been re-upholstered, but it's the same furniture nonetheless.

For inspiration, Williams studied the decorating treatment given various rooms in the White House and in many respects the new decor parallels that found in the President's Washington, D.C. home. For instance, the huge living room, on the style of the yellow Oval Room in the White House, is decorated in shades of gold and white with accents of persimmon — the color scheme originally chosen by Dolley Madison in 1809. The most striking characteristic of the old Towers' Presidential Suite, a living room wallpaper mural depicting scenic Americana, has given way to gold silk damask paper. "Deciding whether or not to retain the paper was my most difficult decision," recalled Williams, as he lovingly fingered a potted palm in a corner of the parlor. "I finally decided the mural had to go because it was such a difficult paper to decorate around.

Hornets Sting Hawks

By CHARLES BRADY

BENTON — The Kelly Hawks of Benton found out last night why the Advance Hornets are rated sixth in the state in class S and seventh in the district as Coach Carroll Cookson's quintet raced past the Hawks, 73 to 38.

Dennis Long led the first quarter attack for Advance that all but put the game on ice. Long dumped in 11 first quarter points in leading the Hornets to a huge 29 to 9 advantage.

Getting balanced scoring in the second stanza, the Hornets continued to pour it on building up a 44 to 16 score at intermission as Kelly could never get untracked against the bigger and faster squad from Advance.

The Hornets forced the Hawks into numerous turnovers and controlled both boards throughout the contest and the third period was no exception. Advance continued to use an even scoring attack to enjoy a 60 to 26 margin at the three-quarters mark.

With both teams substituting freely in the final stanza, the Hornets outscored Kelly 13 to 12 to come away with he easy win.

Joe Davis led the balanced attack for Kelly with 10 counters followed by Brian Summers with eight and Robin Burger with seven.

Four Advance players reached the double figures with Russell Berrong hitting for 19 counters followed by Gary Georger with 15, Tony Jenkins with 14, and Dennis Long with 13.

For coach Jim Chandler's Hawks, it marked the seventh defeat of the season to go with four victories.

The Advance Hornets took their 12 win of the year to go with only two losses.

The preliminary contest gave home town fans much more to cheer about as the Kelly junior varsity won a see- saw match against the highly regarded Advance B team 41 to 39.

The Hawks enjoyed an excellent first quarter to post a 17 to 13 lead but a long scoring drought in the second period saw the Hornets come back to even the score at halftime 23 all.

The visitors from Advance increased the pressure in the third stanza to build up a 33 to 29 lead and to set the stage for the Hawks comeback in the final quarter.

With Mike Morrow and Mike LeGrand doing the damage, the junior Hawks came back and passed the Hornets in the final period to come away with the two point win.

Morrow and LeGrand led the Kelly scoring with 16 and 10 points respectively.

Richard Hitt had 14 and Terry Wills added 12 for Advance.

For coach Dick Englehart's five, it marked their ninth win of the year with just two defeats.

Carroll Cookson's squad lost for only the third time in 15 outings.

Kelly will resume action Friday at East Prairie in a conference tilt with a preliminary game also scheduled.

Scoring:

KELLY "A" — Davis 10, Larry Ulmer 1, Summers 8, Burger 7, Margrabe 6, Brucker 4, and Ed Ulmer 2.

ADVANCE "A" - Jenkins 14, Berrong 19, Georger 15, Long 13, Daniel 6, Ridings 4, and Walker 2.

KELLY "B" — Deason 4, LeGrand 10, Morrow 16, John Urhahn 4, and Stricker 7.

ADVANCE "B" - Hitt 14, Abernathy 2, Scherer 2, Wills 12, Rhodes 2. Emerson 5, and Nelson 2.

Portageville Tops Lilbourn

PORTAGEVILLE — It seems that Lilbourn has its ups and downs and they were down last night as the Portageville Bulldogs downed them, 52-46. The Bulldogs moved their record to 2-3 in the Conference and will try to even it up against Gideon.

The Panthers were in the lead at half by a bucket, but the Bulldogs came back in the third and fourth periods to score 30 to Lilbourn's 22.

Randy Long led the Bulldog attack as he collected 14 and Tom Minnis added 11 to the total. Jerome Wilderness collected high point honors as he scored 18 and Tom Wells added 11 for the Panthers.

The B game showed Lilbourn coming out on top 50-36. Cleo Willis led the Panther's with 22 and Chris Foster had 15 for the Bullpups.

New Madrid Routs Matthews, 74-59

NEW MADRID — The New Madrid Indians, used hustle, defense and rebounding to run its record to 13-0 with 74-59 basketball rout of Matthews last night.

New Madrid insured itself of at least a tie for the county conference title with last night's win as it remains the only unbeaten league team and one of two undefeated district quintets.

New Madrid used its famed defense to turn the game into an early rout as it sped away in the final minutes of the first quarter for an 18-11 lead and never trailed.

Rebounding also paid big dividents for coach Carroll Compton's tribe, as it dominated the boards over the talented jumping of Matthew's Kara Nunn, Clarence Brooks and Carl Bishop.

Coach Compton's squad was sparked by junior reserve Mark Barker who came in late in the first period and picked up the team, drawing charging fouls and stealing the ball.

Speedy George Ross dumped in 10 25-foot jumpers and handled the ball for the Indians who teamed behind Tucker's 25 points for the win.

The Indians cruised into a 33-29 halftime lead before opening up the second half for 40 points and led one by 20, 68-48, before the reserves came on and finished out the ball before the capacity crowd.

Coach Compton got outstanding play from reserves Mark Baker, George Mann and Richard Phillips as well as from starters Joe Walker, Nathaniel Malone, and George Mann.

It was a big win for the Indians, who rank second in the district behind undefeated Malden. Both are class M and won't meet until the state as each go separate ways for regionals in February.

Matthews had its troubles with rebounding and shooting as the team showed credentials of 15 of 30 from the charity line and even worse from the field.

Carl Bishop led Matthews scoring with 15 points.

The Pirates Kara Nunn was injured in the game, but returned to the floor to foul out with 2:08 left in the game. It was the fifth loss for the Pirates this season.

New Madrid started the evening with a 63-51 B win, giving it the leadership in the county standings.

Donald Tucker led the B win for the Indians with 15 points. Matthews' Lynn McCaster had 15 to tie for high game scoring honors.

Bernie Blows Lead; Loses To Dexter

DEXTER — Bernie blew a 12- point lead over Stoddard county rival Dexter last night and found itself with a 52-50 loss.

Dexter used a stiff defense that forced coach Ed Street's Bernie Mules into numerous mistakes and into the loss column as it out- scored Bernie 20-6 in the final period to post the win.

Bernie ripped out to a 16-8 first quarter lead and shot into a 44-32 lead going into the final quarter before turning the game over to the Bearcats.

Francis Guethle paced Dexter to its eighth win, scoring 16 points. Lloyd Hyten added 15 and Mick Lynch 13.

Coach Jim Hall's Bearcats again took the win at the charity line where it held an 18-13 advantage

Dexter also picked up the junior varsity win, posting a 48-15 victory.

Malden Breezes

MALDEN — The Daily Standard's top rated Malden Green Waves passed the century mark in scoring for the fifth time last night as they crushed Holcomb 102-41. It was the third straight 100 plus game for Coach Vivan Reed's undefeated Waves.

Malden swept into a 53-15 halftime lead and was never threatened on the way to its 13th straight victory.

The one- two scoring punch of Willy Wilson and Carl Holloway accounted for 52 of the teams points with Wilson netting 28 and Holloway 24.

The Green Waves got off 108 shots during the night and connected on 44 per cent of them.

Malden started the night with a 62-53 B game win behind Tommy Lee's 19 points.

A few conclusions about today's teen-agers:

1. I'm either shrinking in my old age or kids are definitely bigger. I don't know if its all the vitamins and orange juice or what, but when I'm walking down the street with them I find that 9 out of 10 could easily spit on my head (I'm happy to say all have been polite enough not to do so), and my line of vision consists strictly of shoulders and mid riffs, in fact, I was even greeted upon entering a school classroom one day with "Good grief," giggle, giggle," just look at that little thing, and she gonna teach us?"

2. The appearance of todays kids, (with the exception of a few hairy fellows) has definitely improved since my time. I like the fun clothes they wear - my generation always dressed just like their parents and that was pretty dull and unimaginative - while these teenagers have their own styles and a flair for wearing them. The girls with their elaborate make up and hair dos really amazes me - heavens, I thought the day I put on lipstick I was practically a painted woman, and if my hair had a good brushing, well I was as well-dressed and groomed as one ever got in those days. I have a sneaking suspicion that this is why I now can't get eye liner on without achieving a rather cross-eyed effect and my hair dos still look as though a brush has gone thru them and nothing more.

3. They are learning more than we did, for example, have you ever given this new math a whirl? I did (on the third grade level) and I am still whirling, but I believe all their studies are on a little higher level (course we've gone to the moon since then so why shouldn't they be), than back in the "olden days" when I was young.

However, before you teeny boppers get so puffed up from all this flattery that you soar to the moon on your own hot air, before this happens let me mention three things I have found lacking in the biggest part of todays youth that I think my generation and those before me had.

1. discipline
2. respect and courtesy for elders
3. a fair sense of right and wrong

Unfortunately, I find what is lacking to be much more important than what has been learned.

Foreign Suppliers Agree to Hold Lineon U.S. Meat Shipments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign meat suppliers have agreed to hold the line on U.S. shipments again this year so strict import quotas will be unnecessary, Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin announced Monday.

Based on foreign commitments, Hardin estimated 1970 meat imports at 1,061,500,000 pounds, about 25 million more than last year.

The name Hong Kong is derived from two Chinese characters variously interpreted as meaning "sweet stream" and "fragrant port." It is one of the world's largest duty-free ports.

Solomon's Reign

King Solomon ruled until he died in 926 B.C. It is not known when he came to the throne, but the Bible uses the round number of 40 years when speaking of the length of his reign.

St. Louis Philharmonic's Kettle Drummer Only 14

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Every once in a while the kettle drummer in the St. Louis Philharmonic lets go with a passage not in the score.

The other musicians in the 95-member orchestra just take it in stride.

After all, the kettle drummer is only 14 and most of the time he treats the score just as seriously as they do.

"Rock is okay," says the young percussionist, Alan Schilling, "but I like symphonies better."

Alan, who has been drumming since he was 4, was only 12 when he made it to the Philharmonic.

"The boy is great," said Max Risch, the Philharmonic's personnel manager. "A first class musician. His talent ranks with the upper core of the orchestra. He's got a good attitude and is very disciplined."

But Alan says he likes to "let go" occasionally in practice and "If they don't say anything, or just kind of laugh, then I know it's okay to play it in a performance."

Alan has been taking drum lessons from the best St. Louis professionals for about seven years and also plays and studies piano.

The main thing, he says, is to "give it more – make it sound better."

Alan still remembers what someone told him when he first wanted to play a musical instrument as a tyke. "You're too little to play a piano. Go home and eat a few loaves of bread and get a little bigger."

In the third grade he joined the St. Peter's Cathedral Grade School Band.

"The others didn't like me because even though I was little I could play as well as they could," he said. "But eventually we made friends."

Alan is urged on by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Schilling, of Belleville, Ill., both non-musical.

Mrs. Schilling was proudest, she says, when, on a spring morning three years ago, the Cathedral Band marched down a Belleville street to a cadence Alan composed.

Alan played for a time with the Belleville Junior Philharmonic and when an opening came up in the St. Louis Philharmonic he was recommended by his teacher.

He now talks hopefully of starting a large dance band reminiscent of bygone days "with six trumpets." Or maybe he'll settle for playing with the bigger orchestra, "like the Boston Symphony."

Cattle Feed Short in Bootheel

JEFFERSON CITY – Recent heavy snows and persistent subfreezing temperatures have placed many South Missouri cattlemen in urgent need of feed, according to an announcement made today by Glen Peterson, assistant director of Marketing, Missouri Department of Agriculture.

The drought that swept the area last summer severely limited the usually plentiful winter fescue pastures, as well as the modest hay reserves normally put up for bad weather feeding, Peterson says.

Reports from cattlemen indicate that the feed problem is most pressing among dairy producers in the West Plains area of Howell County. Virtually no local hay is available there

Frankly Speaking

By

THOMAS F. EAGLETON
U.S. Senator—Missouri

EDUCATION AND FISCAL RESPONSIBILITY

When Congress reconvenes January 19, one of the first struggles will be the $19.7 billion labor- education appropriations bill, which was held up over the Christmas holidays because of President Nixon's threat to veto it.

Last week the President said the bill, if passed in its present form, definitely would be vetoed. He thinks it could be inflationary.

In my view, the President's intention cuts right to the heart of the chief emerging issue of the 1970s -- national priorities, what they ought to be and how much we should spend to obtain them.

Congress Cuts Spending

In 1969 Congress gave the tax relief to the average taxpayer and cut defense spending. It did decide to give more money than the President wanted to a few domestic programs. and therein lies the difference between the President's view of what the United States needs first and the Congress' view.

Congress showed its concern for the nation's children, the nation's poor, the nation's hungry, the nation's senior citizens and the average man whose income is being eaten alive by inflation and high taxes.

The President is worried about inflation.

So is Congress.

Well, who did the most to combat inflation in 1969?

Rhetoric aside, the record is clear: Of the 14 major appropriations bills passed in 1969, 10 were cut by Congress below the amounts requested by the President.

Congress demonstrated its concern about inflation and one of its primary causes -- government spending-- by cutting spendg $7.5 billion below the amount President Nixon sought.

The chief area in which Congress wanted to spend more than the President's budget was in health and education -- $1.1 billion more. Congress also added $.8 billion to other programs.

The end result was this: While the President was talking about fighting inflation, Congress was acting by cutting his budget requests by a net amount of $5.6 billion, most of this in needless and wasteful defense spending -- the most dramatic anti- inflationary move of 1969.

The Education Bill

Even though Congress lopped off $5.6 billion beyond what the President himself thought was necessary to fight inflation, he still objects to the increases voted by Congress for health and education.

What items does he object to?

According to Administration officials, they are these:

$104.4 million for Hill-Burton hospital construction grants.

$23 million for health library facilities.

$297 million for elementary and secondary education aid.

$48 million for educational instructional equipment.

$398 million for impacted school aid.

$33 million for higher education.

$192.5 million for vocational education.

About $35 million for general library aid.

How can he object to these? Especially in light of the cuts in government spending Congress has already voted, cuts far beyond what he thought was needed?

Frankly, I don't know.

But, obviously, his priorities are not those of Congress. And in this instance, they aren't mine either.

If he does veto the bill, I will vote to override the veto and I am hopeful that is the way the entire Congress will vote. I firmly believe that health and education - already inadequately funded -- cannot afford to be cut back one red cent.

Gas Service Cut for Schools, Industries

DEXTER — A curtailment of natural gas service, brought about by the cold weather and what Missouri Utility Company personnel termed a "limited" supply of gas, caused the clouding of public schools in Dexter, Bloomfield and Essex for a day and a half this week and the partial curtailment of industrial activity.

Conditions were returned to normal in the schools by Thursday morning.

The cutback was ordered by the Missouri Utilities Company among large users of natural gas--customers who have signed what is termed an "interruptable contract" which provides a lower rate for natural gas but also provides that service can be interrupted when it is felt necessary. Nearly all large users of natural gas are required to sign such a contract, a company spokesman pointed out.

The curtainment of gas service was done "so that an adequate supply of gas can be assured for homes in the area," a company spokesman in Cape Girardeau said.

The curtailment effected the communities of Dexter, Bloomfield and Essex. Schools were closed at Dexter, Bloomfield and in the Richland School District (Essex).

In addition, the Elder Manufacturing Company plant in Bloomfield was closed a half-day Tuesday, and all day Wednesday and Thursday. Plans were formulated to open the plant Friday. it was learned.

At the Elder Manufacturing Company plant in Dexter, however, a standby heating system is available, and when the order for curtailment of gas service came through the plant was "switched" to its oil heat facility. Operations were normal, a company spokesman said.

At the Fram plant in Dexter operations were near normal, since the plant switched to a stand- by fuel system.

The main effect of the curtailment seemed to be in those communities which are served by Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation-- the supplier of natural gas for some of the towns in the Southeast Missouri area served by Missouri Utilities Company. These communities include Dexter, Bloomfield and Essex, and in all these communities the schools and industries were ordered to curtail the natural gas consumption. Other school systems in the county were open, but in these towns, served by Missouri Utilities Company, the natural gas s purchased from another supplier. At Bell City, Bernie, Puxico and Advance, the schools were open, it was reported.

Intangible Tax Money Distributed

Yeilding Pleads Innocent

KENNETT - James Yeilding of Kennett entered an innocent plea in Dunklin county circuit court Friday to a first degree murder charge in connection with the shooting death of J. F. Sharley of Campbell here in early December.

Yeilding, appearing with his attorneys, heard Circuit Judge William H. Billings set March 24 as the trial date. Prosecuting Attorney Franklin D. Holder represented the state. Yeilding was one of eight persons arraigned in criminal action.

U.S. Cash for Cape Park

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. — A $25,000 matching grant to construct a water system in Trail of Tears State Park, 14 miles south of Cape Girardeau, was announced Monday.

The funds are being provided by the Bureau of Recreation of the Department of the Interior. A well, pumping house and water lines will be constructed.

The announcement was made by Missouri Senators Stuart Symington and Thomas Eagleton and Representative Bill Burlison of Cape Girardeau.

Old Friends Meeting House, built in 1683, is a historic edifice that may be seen at Easton, Md.

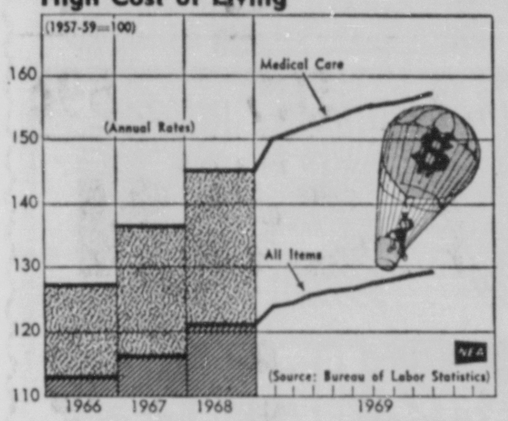
High Cost of Living



The Consumer Price Index, all items, reached an all-time high of 129.3 at the end of the year's third quarter. This means the Consumer family was paying 29.3 per cent more—129.30—for what $100 purchased during the base period, 1957-59, with averages for those years taken as 100. Medical care, represented in the total index, is graphed separately to show its dramatic rise.

GETTING STARTED in school, Prince Aya, 3, leaves Togu Palace with his mother, Crown Princess Michiko, to take entrance exams for the Gakushuin Kindergarten. The prince, second son of Japan's crown prince and princess, had to take an aptitude test and physical examination along with 124 other applicants.

PUBLIC NOTICE

TRUSTEES SALE
NOTICE

Default having been made in the payment of a certain promissory note described in and secured by a Deed of Trust dated February 28, 1967 and recorded in Book 154 at page 185 thereof, in the office of the Recorder of Deeds for Scott County, Missouri, and executed by Dorsey A. Duncan and Lennie L. Duncan, his wife, and because of such default the legal holder of said note has requested the undersigned Trustee to carry out the terms of said Deed of Trust.

Now therefore, I, Maurice Stauffer, Trustee named in the aforementioned Deed of Trust, having been requested so to do by the legal holder and owner of said note, will in accordance with the terms of said Deed of Trust on Saturday, January 24, 1970, between the hours of nine A. M. and five P.M. of said date at the (East front) courthouse door in the Town of Benton, Scott County, Missouri, sell at public vendue to the highest bidder, for cash, the property in said Deed of Trust described, situated in Scott County, Missouri, to-wit:

All of Lots Number Five (5) and six (6) in Block Twelve (12) in the Town of Diehlstadt, Scott County, Missouri; for the purpose of satisfying said debt and cost of sale, or so much thereof as the proceeds therefrom are sufficient to pay.

MAURICE STAUFFER, Trustee.

TRUSTEES SALE

WHEREAS, Jim Rose and Berlitta Rose, his wife, by a certain Deed of Trust dated the 25th day of March, 1968, and recorded in the office of the Recorder of Deeds for the County of Scott and State of Missouri, in Book 159, Page 479, conveyed to Charles D. Matthews, Trustee, the following described real estate situated in the County of Scott and State of Missouri, to-wit:

The East Ten feet of Lot 14 and all of Lot 15 and the West Ten Feet of Lot 16, in Block 8, Keith - McCord Subdivision to the City of Sikeston, Scott County, Missouri.

Which conveyance was made to the Trustee, Charles D. Matthews, in trust to secure the payment of a certain Promissory Note in said Deed of Trust specified; and

WHEREAS, said note is now past due and remains unpaid default having been made in the payment of said note.

AND WHEREAS, the duly appointed Trustee Charles D. Matthews has declined to act or serve as Trustee and the undersigned is hereby empowered by said Deed of Trust to serve as successor or substitute Trustee, having heretofore been appointed to serve as such.

NOW, THEREFORE, at the request of the legal holder of said Note and in the pursuance of the conditions of said Deed of Trust the undersigned Succeessor or Substitute Trustee will sell the property above described at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash at the usual front door of the County Court House in Benton, Scott County, Missouri, on Monday, February 9, 1970, between the hours of 9:00 A.M. and 5:00 P.M. for the purpose of satisfying said indebtedness and the cost of executing this trust.

New Flour Mill for New Madrid

50 years ago
January 14, 1920

New Madrid is to have a new flour mill. Lumber is on the ground for the building and its erection will soon be started. E. E. Reeves and Henry C. Broughton of that city will build and operate the mill. It will do custom grinding.

The street car service at Cape Girardeau has been growing from bad to worse for a long time. The four serviceable cars have now dwindled down to two and they are expected to be adandoned at any time.

The first basketball game of the season for Sikeston High School will be played here Friday when the local high school team will meet the Malden High School team. The local team will be handicapped to a certain extent in this game because of the absence of Ira Lee, center, who is not eligible for the first game. Those who will start include: Capt. Paul Gilbert, center; Lewis Emory Baker and Woolard Baker, forwards; Pleas Malcolm and Craven Watkins, guards. Others who will probably get in the gema are: Fred Allard, center; Reginald Potashnick, forward; and Neil Gilbert, guard.

The girls of the local high school will play a practice game with the Morehouse team. Miss Irvina Rose, is coach and this is the first year for the girls to play. The girls' team will be selected from the following: Jumping center, Mildred Bowman; side center, Mary Blanton and Kathryn Jewell; forwards, Ruth Dewitt, Catherine Blanton and Cozette Stone; guards, Arietta York, Marguerite Atkinson and Rosa Moser.

Matthews -- Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lumsden returned Sunday from Murray, Ky., where they have been the past two months visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Overby.

Flames fanned by a strong northwest wind early Sunday destroyed 16 tourist cabins and menaced the Cotton Club at the south edge of the city, driving out 30 guests into the cold and causing a loss estimated at $9,000.

Announcement was made Friday night of the approaching marriage of Miss Freda Lankford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lankford, to Lewis Conley, son of Mrs. John Carraway, which will take place on February 4 at the First Baptist Church.

Charles Edgar Robbs, 51, prominent New Madrid County farmer, died Friday afternoon at the Baptist Hospital in Memphis.

Authorization has been received from the First Assistant Postmaster General, Washington, D. C., for city delivery service to the Clayton Addition, Postmaster Pleas Malcolm said today.

Miss Mary Ann Hitchcock was installed as Honored Queen of Job's Daughters at the meeting of the organization Saturday evening at the Odd Fellows Hall.

Mrs. W. B. Smith of Vanduser, who observed her 81st birthday Saturday, was guest of honor Sunday at a dinner given by her daughter, Mrs. Ethel Armstrong, and her grandson and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Armstrong at the latter's home.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nevele Pride, a 4-year-old trotter, was named Harness Horse of the Year for 1969 by the U. S. Harness Writers Association. It was the third straight year the honors went to the Nevele Acres trotter.

Nevele Pride earned $871,738 in his three years of racing and has been retired to stud at Lexington, Ky.

If You Were the Judge

Counterfeit Cuban Currency Outlawed

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Pedro was caught with his pesos down. A couple of FBI agents grabbed him with a bundle of counterfeit Cuban money that he was about to unload by plane over Cuba. His intention, he explained, was to float down the fake money and thus disrupt Castro's monetary system by the confusion created by the bogus bills.

Regardless of Pedro's intentions, however, he was nevertheless arrested and charged with possessing currency plates of a foreign country without that country's permission.

"I had the permission of the Cuban government in exile," was Pedro's defense, "and that was good enough for me. It should be good enough for you, too, particularly since Castro isn't convertible."

"That may be so," conceded the prosecuting attorney, "but the law's still the law. The law does not permit the counterfeiting of foreign currency in the United States. While Pedro may be a patriot," concluded the prosecuting attorney, "he's a guilty one."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you send Pedro to the lockup?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that whether or not the present Cuban government is approved of or not, it is still the recognized government of Cuba and is the only government that can give authority for the printing of money.

Recreation Association Will Elect

EAST PRAIRIE - The Mississippi County Recreation Association will hold its annual meeting in the high school auditorium on Jan. 29, at 7:30 p.m.

Officers to be elected are president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, corresponding secretary, and two members of the board of directors.

A nominating committee will present a slate of officers.

L. D. Davis is chairman of the nominating committee.

Dr. James Whitley, Jefferson City, chief, water quality branch of the Missouri Conservation Commission, will present the program. He is an authority on pollution problems.

The public is invited to attend.

While Alaskans have no fruit and vegetable markets, retail bakeries or antique stores and only six department stores, one cigar store and one newstand to boost their economy, they do have 254 bars, night clubs and saloons to boost their morale. According to Dun's Market Identifiers, Dun & Bradstreet's marketing service, drinking and eating places constitute the major portion (24.3 percent) of Alaska's 2,194 retail establishments.

SYMINGTON REPORTS CRIME BILL DUE FOR SENATE ACTION

WASHINGTON, D.C. When the Congress re-convenes this year, a number of measures will be considered including the organized crime control bill which is pending on the Senate calendar. This measure, which originated in the Senate, is the result of many months of detailed study and hearings and includes the recommendations of the Congress and the Administration. Improvements proposed by this bill could greatly assist Federal, state, and local efforts to eliminate the undercurrent of oranized crime in America.

NEW PROCEDURES NEEDED. In an effort to help improve the way in which Federal funds are appropriated, I am co-sponsoring legislation to modernize the procedures by which Congress considers appropriation bills.

In the past, the President has presented his budget to the Congress in January or February for programs to begin July 1 in the same year. Between he time the budget is received and summer, Congress must hold extensive hearings to review each item under each Federal agency. Often, this process of hearings and review takes more than the few months alloted and appropriations legislation is not passed until the fall.

Whenever there is a change in Administrations, such as ocurred in 1969, there is often a long delay before the new Administration informs the Congress as to its proposed budget. In such cases, the appropriations process may be extended several months past July 1 and many programs must be set aside until Congressional action is complete.

ELIMINATE DELAYS. To eliminate many of these delays in the future, the bill I am co-sponsoring would make the Federal government's year begin January 1, rather than July 1. It would also create two separate sessions of Congress each year, the first for consideration of authorization bills and the second for consideration of appropriation bills.

Through this measure and through improvements on he part of the executive branch it is hoped that delays with respect to Federal appropriations will be eliminated.

1969 SESSION. During the 1969 session of Congress, the Senate passed 684 measures include 277 bills originating in the Senate and 156 originating in the House. By the time the session closed, a total of 3,825 bills and resolutions had been introduced in the Senate while 17,728 had been introduced in the House. Consideration of many of these measures will continue in the 1970 session, including 19 in the Senate and 48 in the House which have been reported by the various committees, but on which action has not been completed.

A full report on the work of the 1969 session of the 91st Congress is available and if you would like a copy, please let me know: Senator Stuart Symington, 229 Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510.

Q—In the jargon of the Apollo 10 astronauts, what do the terms "Charlie Brown" and "Snoopy" denote?

A—Charlie Brown is the radio call for the command module when the lunar module, or LEM, is manned. Snoopy is the call name for LEM when it is manned.

Q—How many U.S. presidents had no children?

A—Six of the 36.

DR. EDWARD C. SCHEU, chiropractor, attended the 1970 Annual Congress of the International Pain Control Institute in Kansas City last weekend. The Congress was concerned with treatment and prevention of injuries.

Sanitation Important to Pecan Trees

CARUTHERSVILLE — Insect and disease problems are encouraged by poor sanitation in the pecan orchard according to W. F. James Area agriculture extension agent.

All leaves old hulls and branches need to be removed from under the trees. They are the breeding ground for the diseases and insects that serve to carry them through the winter, James says.

In the larger pecan orchards the twigs and branches are removed and burned, then the ground is cultivated to bury leaves and hulls. Where there are only a few trees around the home, clean raking and burning the leaves, hulls and branches will help.

Obscure scale, as it's name implies, is hardly noticable on your pecan tree, yet it is a very serious pest. This tiny sucking insect is covered with a circular scale - like substance, usually gray in color, similar to color of the bark. It attacks the branches and trunk of the tree by sucking the sap. The greatest injury comes from the gradual killing of branches less than 3 inches in diameter.

To control obscure scale a dormant oil spray should be applied on a mild nonfreezing day in February. All branches of the tree need to be wet with the oil spray. An orchard type sprayer that can develop up to 500 pounds pressure is needed for large pecan trees. Controls for other pecan insects and diseases will be discussed in a news release ahead of the time they need to be applied.

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 14, the 14th day of 1970. There are 351 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1784, the United States ratified a peace treaty with England, formally ending the American Revolution.

On this date:

In 1809, England and Spain formed an alliance against Napoleon Bonaparte.

In 1814, Denmark ceded Norway to Sweden.

In 1875, the medical missionary, the late Albert Schweitzer was born.

In 1914, Henry Ford started the first auto assembly line.

In 1943, President Franklin D. Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill began a wartime conference in Morocco.

In 1953, the Parliament in Yugoslavia elected Premier Tito president. Only one vote was cast against him.

Ten years ago — Moves toward setting up a new Western trade group that would include European nations and the United States and Canada were approved at a meeting in Paris.

Five years ago — The prime ministers of Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic met for the first time since Ireland was partitioned.

One year ago — The U.S. aircraft carrier Enterprise was ripped by explosions. At least 17 lives were lost.
